Two Men Wounded in Coal Riot; F. D. R. May Act

Shooting Is Reported at Gary Mine

President Is Said to Be Ready to Act to Put Coal Flow Back to Normal

Dixon Calls Guard

Alabama Governor Has Home Guard Ready for Service

Washington, Nov. 18 (AP)—There was gunfire and a flurry of angry fists of those who wanted to work and those who didn't today in the captive coal mine strike. Two men were wounded.

President Roosevelt, eyeing the predicament of defense-burdened steel mills with dwindling coal piles, was reported ready to use the full powers of government to restore the flow of fuel.

At Montgomery, Ala., Governor Frank Dixon announced several Alabama Home Guard companies had been ordered to "stand by for call in event of an emergency" in the captive mine strikes in the Birmingham district. From other sources it was learned, two Home Guard units had already been mobilized.

The first serious disorder took place at Gary, W. Va., when 20 men were shot today at No. 10 mine of the U. S. Coal and Coke Company, one of six captive mines there which operated yesterday despite the walkout. One man was wounded in the shoulder and the other in the foot and both were taken to hospitals. There was a brickbat fight at a Gary mine yesterday.

Strikers and non-strikers swung fists in a brief and bloodless scuffle today at the entrance to a U. S. steel mine in Fayette county, the first disorder in the Pennsylvania fields in the two-day-old "captive" mine strike.

State motor police reported the fighting broke out when 50 non-strikers started through a picket line of 100 United Mine Workers at the H. C. Frick Coke Company's Red Lion mine, 15 miles north of Uniontown, Pa. Frick is a subsidiary of U. S. Steel.

Earlier, police said, the pickets had halted automobiles bearing non-strikers and threatened to overturn them. Blows were exchanged and shots were torn, but no one was hurt. The U. M. W. threw a picket line around the Red Lion pit after the company reported about 200 of a day crew of 700 had gone to work yesterday.

The pickets dispersed after state police arrived. At Johnstown, Pa., city police reported 200 men walked through a line of 100 pickets and entered the Rosedale mine of the Bethlehem Steel Company. Yesterday, police reported 325 had gone to work.

U. M. W. leaders reported unionists in northern Cambria county had launched a "sympathy strike" movement which threatened to spread the "captive" mine walkout to commercial pits.

Persons in close touch with the White House said Mr. Roosevelt was convinced that the time had come for the government to put into effect a vigorous policy toward all strikes which impede defense production.

"The President is losing patience," one reliable informant declared. "He is getting ready to crack down—and hard—on John L. Lewis (U. M. W.'s president) or anybody else who is holding up defense production."

Sympathy Walkouts
U. M. W., meanwhile, concentrated its energies on making the captive coal mine strike 100 per cent effective, and already the miners in some commercial pits were quitting work in sympathy walkouts to demonstrate union solidarity. The captive mines differ from the commercial mines in that they are owned by steel companies and their output for the steel mills instead of marketing it commercially.

A general sympathy strike of any duration in the commercial fields would affect not only many fields of manufacturing, but railroad operation as well. The commercial employ approximately 330,000 miners, as compared with the captive's 54,000, and all are (Continued on Page 15)

Nazis Are Thrown Back 8 Miles by Attacking Soviet

Russians Declare Enemy Troops Scamper Off in Underwear; Gains in North Reported

(By The Associated Press)
Official Soviet dispatches reported today the Germans had been thrown back eight miles by Red army counter-attacks at Tula, 100 miles south of Moscow, and that the surprised Nazis "ran, and ran, and ran" through the bitter cold in their underwear in a "panic-stricken rout."

Coincidentally, authoritative London quarters said many German soldiers fighting on the snow-bound Russian front were "rigged out with women's fur clothing and other makeshifts."

The source said very few Germans were properly equipped for fighting in the Russian winter. On the Leningrad front, the Russians claimed further successes against Nazi siege armies around the old Czarist capital, declaring Soviet troops had captured positions held by the Germans for two months and that they were still advancing along the left bank of the river "N"—presumably the Neva river, just outside Leningrad.

Tass, the Russian news agency, gave a graphic description of the Nazi rout at Tula.

Are Taken by Surprise
Taken by surprise by a Soviet artillery bombardment at dawn, the agency said, German infantry housed in the outskirts of the city threw away their weapons as they fled "but our cavalry caught up with the Fascists . . . running down the frosty streets in their underwear . . ."

Six Patients Die in Fire In Amityville Sanitarium

Thirty Bed-Ridden Patients Carried From Blazing Building; Male Nurse Sustains Broken Leg in Leap

Amityville, N. Y., Nov. 18 (AP)—Fire destroyed a building of a private sanitarium here early today and took the lives of six elderly patients—three men and three women—while 30 others, most of them bedridden and screaming with fear, were rescued.

Dr. Convas L. Markham, superintendent of the institution, the Brunswick Home, for the care of diabetic and nervous cases, said that while a majority of the patients were incurably incapacitated, so far as he could determine those rescued had suffered no ill effects other than shock.

He said it was not likely the six bodies could be taken from the smoldering ruins of the three-story wood and stucco structure until some time this afternoon. Dr. Markham listed the dead as: Harry Duncomb, 68, of 823 Prospect Place, Brooklyn; Abraham Michelson, 62, (29 West 47th street) New York city; Thomas R. Riker, 54, (East Suffolk avenue), Massapequa, Long Island; Mrs. Adelaide Raynor, 80 plus, (97 West Lena street) Freeport, Long Island; Mrs. Vincenza Botello, 64, (50 Van Buren street) East Hempstead, Long Island; and Isabella Pawson, 52, (25 Cumberland street) Brooklyn.

Dr. Markham said the only other casualty was Percy Martin, 29, a nurse, whose escape was cut off by flames while he was engaged in rescue work. He suffered a broken leg in jumping from an upstairs window.

A number of nurses and other attendants were treated for smoke poisoning, lacerations and minor injuries, none serious.

Volunteer fire fighters from this and other communities on Long Island's south shore battled the blaze for more than three hours. Fire Chief Lester Gardiner said the fire started in the kitchen of the building—one of 15 structures housing 260 patients and a large number of employees—as a midnight meal was being prepared for the night workers.

Observers early at the scene said the horror of the fire was amplified by the mingled screams of the dying and those of patients at nearby Long Island Home and Loudon Knickerbocker Hall, private institutions for the insane, who were aroused by the flames.

Nurses from the three institutions aided firemen in carrying bed-ridden patients from the burning building. Most of them were carried out on their mattresses—many of them nearly nude after rescuers had snatched burning nightgowns and covers from their beds.

The medical detachment of the Women's Motor Corps, a defense unit, aided the rescuers. Hours after the fire had been extinguished, the fire chief said no attempt would be made to recover the bodies until after the heat of the smoldering debris had died.

Dr. Markham said the relatives of all survivors had been notified of their safety and added that the names of the missing would not be made public until their relatives—all residents of greater New York city—had been notified.

Do You Believe in Monopoly?
One thing that has made America a great country is this: Any man with the courage to start a new business—or sell a better product at a better price—is free to do so.

And he also is free to compete for customers by advertising the advantages he offers. Advertising is one of the simplest safeguards against monopoly.

It lets each man tell his story—and the public picks the winner. —Advertising Federation of America.

interview, "it is too far ahead to tell exactly what the issues will be. But if we still are not at war and the situation is about what it is now, I believe our party might make a major issue of whether we will send an expeditionary force to some other country."

The Ohio senator, an unsuccessful contender for the 1940 Republican presidential nomination, predicted his party would make substantial House gains in the 1942 off-year elections. He added it was entirely possible that Republicans might capture control of the chamber. There now are 260 Democrats in the House and 168 Republicans. The remaining seven members belong to minor parties.

In addition to the expeditionary force issue, Taft said that Republicans should put forward a program of post-war rehabilitation. One Republican leader, asking anonymity, said he did not believe the party could force the issues of next year's campaign this far in advance. He said that the war might be over by election time and added that in such event the contest would revolve largely around domestic issues.

Area Represented In National Art Week Exhibition

Pictures and Handicraft From Various Regions of County Shown at Auditorium

Kingston's second annual exhibition in observance of National Art Week opened yesterday at the municipal auditorium with a countywide display of art and handicraft. The show continues through to November 23 and the works in both departments are on sale. Admission is free. The estimated attendance was between 300 and 400.

Again this year the exhibit is singular in its combination of works by amateurs of the hobbyist variety and those bearing names of nationally known Woodstock resident artists such as Henry Mattson, Judson Smith and Dorothy Varian.

Amateur work, however, is far more prevalent this year than last and various regions of the county are represented in the larger downstairs room devoted to art. Works in the handicraft room upstairs are more widely representative of the city and county, although here too are works by residents of the art colony.

Paintings in the art room range from the conservative, picturesque handling of the academicians to those of more progressive idiom, and the media includes oil, watercolor, tempera, pencil, colored pencil, lithograph, etching, dry point and woodcut.

Handicraft Shown
The exhibition of handicraft arranged mainly through the efforts of Mrs. William J. McVey includes work from groups and individuals from all parts of the county and the display is one which should guarantee a permanent place to area handicraft in the local annual observance of National Art Week.

Among larger canvases by the profession attracting attention is the landscape of Christine Martin and others by Carl Eric Lindin, Ivan Summers, Eugenie McEvoy, Dorothy Varian, Anita M. Smith, Anton Otto Fischer, Edgar M. Ward, Emily D. B. Hoysradt and Marko Vuovich.

Judson Smith contributes an excellent portrait and another is representative of the work of Norbert Heerman. Julia S. Leaycraft (Continued on Page 16)

U.S. May Expand System Of Camps for All Aliens

German Ace Udet Dies of Injuries

Berlin Says Quartermaster General of Air Force Was Testing Weapon

Berlin, Nov. 18 (AP)—Col. Gen. Ernst Udet, 45, German flying ace of the World War and quartermaster general of the Nazi air force in this war, was killed in an accident yesterday while testing "a new weapon," it was announced today.

The official announcement said Udet was hurt so gravely that he died before he reached a hospital. Adolf Hitler, who had named German pursuit squadron No. 3 for him in recognition of his achievements, ordered a state funeral.

Justice Department Has More Than 2,000 Axis Nationals Now on Hand in Camps

Washington, Nov. 18 (AP)—The justice department, which already has more than 2,000 Axis Nationals on its hands, is contemplating a three-fold expansion of its alien detention camp system, it was learned today, to make the facilities equal to any sudden war emergency.

The immigration and naturalization service, a unit in the department, now operates camps at Fort Lincoln, N. D., where more than 300 German sailors are held, and Fort Missoula, Mont., which has about 1,000 Italians, mostly seamen.

Lifting of Neutrality Ban Will Free Anglo Warships for Other Purposes

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Freeman Special News Service)

The liberalization of the neutrality act puts teeth in the most colossal job of war-underwriting the world has ever dreamed of before this era of figures that have gone mad.

The United States now not only is the arsenal of democracy but is in position to deliver its own goods, protected by naval convoy, in the ports of all countries resisting the Axis powers. That is, Uncle Sam is in position to try to deliver, over the violent protests of Herr Hitler.

At this writing we would seem to be purveyors of shot, shell and encouragement to something more than half the population of the globe. This doesn't include the Latin American countries, which can subscribe any time they want to.

One still hears speculation as to whether this brings us nearer to participation in the war. Well, of course the sending of ships into belligerent waters will increase our hazards of getting shot up, (Continued on Page Five)

House of Peers Gives Approval to Fund for Munitions

(By The Associated Press)

The Japanese ambassador to Washington talked for two hours and 45 minutes with Secretary of State Hull today and told reporters afterwards he was "still hopeful" of reaching an understanding on Japanese-American difficulties.

The ambassador, Kichisaburo Nomura, voiced an optimistic view before the conference began and when he and the special Japanese emissary, Saburo Kurosu, emerged from the secretary's office after the lengthy conversation his first positive statement was a repetition of this confidence that the prospects were hopeful.

In the Far East crisis, Japan's Premier Hideki Tojo declared today that "the Japanese army is prepared for any eventuality" amid sharply strained relations with both the United States and Russia.

Simultaneously, Navy Minister Admiral Shigetarō Shimada told the Tokyo Diet (Parliament) that "the navy has completed all preparations to meet any change in the situation."

In Washington, Japanese Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura expressed optimism over the chances for settlement of Japanese-American relations as he arrived at the State Department for a conference.

"Why are the papers here all so gloomy?" Nomura asked newsmen. "We are very hopeful."

Nomura laughingly declared "you Americans are always in a fighting mood" and he smiled when told that Tokyo newspapers were not entirely peace-minded.

Eyes Turn to Washington

The twin warnings that Japan is clearing her decks for possible action came as all eyes turned to Washington for the outcome of discussions by Japan's special "peace or war" envoy, Saburo Kurosu, with President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

On the record, both statements were made in direct reply to a question raised in the Japanese Parliament regarding the presence of asserted Russian floating mines in the Sea of Japan, but the implication was unmistakable that they were directed to the United States as well as Russia.

Foreign Minister Tojo said Japan had refused to accept Moscow's reply to a recent Japanese protest over the sinking of the liner Keshi Maru in the Japan Sea, allegedly by Soviet mines.

Tojo informed the Diet that Kurosu "carried no new instructions" to Washington, but he intimated that the outcome of Kurosu's mission would determine Japan's policy regarding her obligations under the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance.

Premier Tojo has already outlined three prime Japanese demands:

An end to "such measures of hostile character as economic blockade" by the A. B. C. D.—America, Britain, China and the Dutch East Indies.

A halt to asserted "military encirclement" of Japan by Britain and the United States.

Hands off Japan's conflict with China.

Tojo said it was still too early to say what effect the Washington conversations "will have on the third clause of the tripartite pact"—the clause obligating each Axis signatory to lend all aid, including military, to its allies in the event they are "attacked" by a power not yet involved in the European or China wars.

Tokyo newspapers declared the international situation had gone "from bad to worse" even as Kurosu flew to Washington.

The House of Peers unanimously approved the empire's 3,800,000,000 yen ($874,000,000) military budget thus completing parliamentary action on the huge finance sheet. At the same time, the Japan Times and Advertiser, the organ of the Japanese foreign office, declared the choice of peace or war in the Pacific was up to the United States. (Continued on Page Five)

Gasoline Ration Scheme

Gives Rise to Rackets

The new gasoline rationing plan has inspired grumbling among service men in Manhattan—but it was just a ray of sunshine to "Happy Harry the Hackie."

If there are racket possibilities in a situation, Harry can scent them out. Repeat put him out of the bootlegging business; the parliament machines ruined his book-making business; but the recent night blackout on gas sales has broadened his grin. He explained: "I carry extra gasoline when some dope gets stalled at night, I drive up and sell him two gallons for a dollar. Last week I make more from gas than from fares."

He frowned when told a new plan of gasoline conservation had been put into effect but regained his grin when told it called for a 10 per cent reduction in deliveries and that the service station attendants would see to the rationing themselves. He said:

"That's great. I get me a bigger business than ever now."

Of the million cars operated daily in New York, only about 200,000 are transient; and July sales throughout the city are 20 per cent lower than September sales, because many motorists are out of town on vacation.

Thus, operators explained, the cut generally may amount to 30 per cent or more of the fuel normally available.

Births Recorded

The following births have been reported to the Board of Health: Mr. and Mrs. Frederick F. Heybruck, Jr., of 139 Highland avenue, a daughter, Mary Ann, in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Scharpf of 300 East Chester street, a son, Walter W., in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John N. Goodrich of Saugerties, a daughter, Judith Ann, in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis M. Burhans of 30 Smith avenue, a son, Wayne Gordon, in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth O'Dell Pratt of 14 Smith avenue, a son, Ronald O'Dell, in Kingston Hospital.

Naval Base Is Rushed

Shanghai, Nov. 8 (UP)—The Japanese in French Indo-China are rushing construction work at Camranh Bay on the southern coast, one of the world's best sites for a naval base, it was reported authoritatively today. At least a dozen shore batteries already have been placed, the report said.

America annually produces 8-250,000 gallons of wood turpentine, Census reports show. Gum turpentine production exceeds 24,000,000 gallons a year.

WRECKAGE OF CRASHED ARMY BOMBER

This is an airview of the wreckage of the B-18 army bomber which crashed the night of November 15 in the Maine wilderness, near Lee, 60 miles northwest of Bangor, Me. A staff reporter for the Bangor Daily News reported to his office that all four men aboard the ship were found dead.

Fear of Dentist Chair

Less With New Methods

Dentistry's rapid forward pace was described recently by Dr. Robert L. Borland of Los Angeles.

Dr. Borland ascribed the advancement to four factors.

The first, he stated, "comes from laboratory test tubes," where have originated anesthetic solutions that "blend so beautifully with the human blood stream that there is no local irritation, hence no local pain during or following a well-done extraction."

Second, he continued, is the better diagnosis made possible by improvements in X-ray technique.

The latest advance in this field, he related, is "a stereoscopic X-ray picture which reveals tooth formations in their true proportions of depth in the jaw, thus making diagnosis accurate on a three-dimensional reading."

Third, Dr. Borland reported, is the vast accumulation of accurate clinical evidence since discovery of the X-ray, giving a base for high efficiency and lifting the dental science from "the mechanical stage of its youth."

Lastly, but by no means least important, he said, is the public cooperation in tooth care which has been obtained through newspaper and other educational programs.

Joint Service Clubs' Speaker

FREDERIC SNYDER

Wednesday noon at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Frederic Snyder, world traveler and lecturer, will address a joint luncheon meeting of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs. The joint meeting of the service clubs was arranged because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

The address will be broadcast at 1 o'clock.

A large attendance is anticipated due to the great popularity of the speaker together with the total membership of the three service clubs and the guests. Included among the guests will be Mayor C. J. Heiselman, Police Chief Charles Phinney and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

Tourists in Michigan

ROSCOMMON, MICH.—More than 27,500 persons climbed Michigan's 72 lower peninsula forest warden towers during 1940, according to state conservation department figures—and surprisingly, 30 per cent of the persons who made the breath-taking climbs were women.

Visitors whose names were recorded in guest books in the towers were from 40 states and many foreign countries.

Home Defense

Fire Wardens Named

As a home defense measure fire wardens have been appointed in each ward of the city to serve in cases of emergency. These men have a number of assistants, and on Saturday when the wardens were called upon to report for duty, there were 173 men who responded either by telephone or in person at police headquarters, which had been designated as the central station.

The wardens named in each ward are:

First Ward, Albert Cook
Second Ward, Lester C. Elmen-dorf

Third Ward, Edward Hillis
Fourth Ward, John McGrane
Fifth Ward, Edwin Ashby

Sixth Ward, Abe Singer
Seventh Ward, Albert Vogel
Eighth Ward, Ben Cohen
Ninth Ward, David Conway
Tenth Ward, Raymond McGinness

Eleventh Ward, T. J. Murray
Twelfth Ward, Everett V. K. Schult

Thirteenth Ward, Fred Zoller

Cosmic Ray Study

The highest reaches of the Cascade mountains are a laboratory in the cosmic-ray research of Walter Dyke, University of Washington physicist.

Dyke has placed photographic plates on Mount Rainier, 14,408 feet; Mount Adams, 12,307 feet, and other peaks. Before summer ends, he will collect the plates for further study.

The young scientist explained that the plates are ordinary photographic film with a fine grain emulsion. If a ray strikes the film at an angle, it probably will leave a track across the surface.

Cosmic rays, Dyke said, leave different tracks. He hopes to identify the numerous types by studying their tell-tale "tracks" under a microscope. Many cosmic rays will pass through the film before one leaves a track. The plates are not left in a horizontal position.

Lucien Muratore, retired opera singer, was once mayor of a town in France.

Will you be one of the unlucky women who didn't get one of these wonderful unlined Fur Coats. Winter is almost here and the warmth of a gorgeous Fur Coat will sure be comforting, especially so, when you can buy these Fur Coats for only

EACH

This is not an ordinary sale. These fur coats and jackets originally cost from five to ten times $25.00. The reason you have the opportunity to effect these remarkable savings is because these fur coats were left with us for remodeling and are now unlined. We are clearing them out for less than the remodeling charges! You can wear one of these coats for two years and we will still allow you the full purchase price towards a new coat. No hurry! This opportunity comes once a year. A small deposit will reserve your selection and small monthly payments can be arranged at no extra charge.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent urination, backache, and burning when you urinate are signs that your kidneys are not working properly. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

- Vital engine parts are unchanged except for an improved oil cleaner.
- New Bodies by Fisher provide the same strength and quality for which they have long been famous.
- Triple-Cushioned Ride—even further improved—is still yours in 1942.
- Travel of the gearshift lever has been reduced 30 per cent.
- Pontiac's gas and oil economy remains at the same high peak.
- For 1942 Pontiac front wheel brakes have been increased in size and all are now triple-sealed.

AVAILABLE AS A SIX OR AN EIGHT IN ANY MODEL

How Pontiac Is Helping America Prepare

Pontiac's part in National Defense is the production of rapid-fire cannon for the U. S. Navy. To speed this all-important task, Pontiac has two ordnance plants—one in operation and one under construction—manned by thousands of skilled craftsmen working night and day building this cannon which naval authorities say is "the most effective weapon of its size ever produced." Pontiac may build fewer cars, but our part in National Defense will never be neglected.

HERE'S GOOD NEWS for those thousands who have long admired the General Motors body style pictured above: this handsome streamlined sedan coupe is now available for the first time in Pontiac's lowest-priced line. Patterned after the sensational popular—and higher-priced—Pontiac Streamliner of last year, this new sedan coupe is available as either a six or an eight. As an eight it is the lowest-priced eight in the world with this famous body style!

And, even more important this year, the new Pontiacs are unchanged where quality and long life count most—in pistons, bearings, crankshafts and other vital spots. This has been accomplished without interfering with defense needs.

The price? It's still just above the lowest.

Your present car may cover part or perhaps all of the down payment on a 1942 Pontiac. The balance may be paid in monthly installments.

Tom-toms drive you NUTS!

It's said that no man can stand the monotonous beat of jungle drums. At first the rhythm interests you, then it gets on your nerves. When you hear it all day long you're hypnotized. The second day you go berserk and will follow any leader the same as the savage does.

Dictators know what "beating the drums" does to people. So they take their pet slogans and put them on the radio. They shut off all other listening. They disregard all the facts, all opinions except their own and repeat the same slogans over and over in their newspapers.

Here's how Hitler says to do it, in his famous book, "MEIN KAMPF": "The great masses' understanding is small, their forgetfulness is great. All effective propaganda must limit itself to only a very few points and use them like slogans until every last man is able to imagine what is intended."

Compare this with YOUR newspaper. It is filled with a thousand interesting and varied facts. It prints the opinions of all sorts—even HITLER'S opinions! But there is no monotonous beating of the tom-toms of propaganda in it!

Variety, interest, color—and with them a high degree of RELIABILITY—that is what an American newspaper offers. It's like a three-ring circus; something doing every minute.

Next time you hear someone proposing to hand the control of America's free press over to some one-sided group, no matter what group, remember this tom-tom story. Remember that America can't be hypnotized and misled as long as its people are free to read, hear and discuss all sides of every question.

Read, each Tuesday in this space, the messages about your liberty and how America's newspapers help you defend it. Your letters of comment will be appreciated by the editor and by this committee—Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

NATIONAL ART WEEK

This week has been designated as National Art Week throughout the nation, and Kingston and Ulster county—home of some of the most famous artists in the world today—are contributing its share to a more sincere appreciation of art in all its varied forms by staging the second annual Ulster County art show or exhibition in the Municipal Auditorium.

Here is being displayed, free to the public some of the finest work of the nation's outstanding artists as well as the work of those known only locally. Outstanding in the exhibition, of course, is the oil paintings, and there are more than a hundred oils on exhibit.

The purpose of National Art Week is to interest citizens in art and crafts and to encourage the purchase of these for the home. Each painting, etching or other art media on exhibition represents the work of an individual which brings pleasure and inspiration to all who view and study it.

This year in addition to the exhibition of paintings, etching and colored pencil work, is added an exhibit of the handicrafts which is staged upstairs in the auditorium, while the paintings are being exhibited in the dining-room under the gallery on the main floor of the building.

The art work, which is being displayed, is from all sections of Ulster county, including examples of some of the finest work from members of the well-known artists' colony at Woodstock.

Every resident of Kingston will gain a better appreciation of art by viewing this exhibition, undoubtedly the largest and finest ever held in the city.

UNITY NOW

It seems clear that the dangerously close vote on amendment of the neutrality law last week really had more to do with labor than with neutrality. A sudden and unexpected insurrection developed in the House against the alleged "coddling" of labor and the tolerance of what many called "rebellion against the government", particularly in the vital coal industry.

Lawmakers saw defense production in general riddled with strikes for higher pay, or for the personal glory and power of labor leaders, until they began to doubt whether this great nation would even be permitted to play a manly role against aggression.

What was the use of ordering our navy into perilous situations, to maintain national rights and self-respect and to safeguard the country's future, if men in strategic places, clothed in a little brief authority, could deprive their country of fuel and munitions?

If it was really the purpose of those rebellious congressmen to throw a shock into the American government and public, they succeeded. And so that perilous revolt may have served a useful purpose. The public now seems to be waking up. Likewise the government. Also organized labor itself. Miners, for example, have been explaining that they have no intention of not doing their duty to their country.

This is a critical time, and particularly a time for strength where strength is most essential—in the government of the United States. The only safe way now is the strong way, accompanied by complete frankness and consistency in the heart of the situation—the executive branch of the government.

BE CALM ABOUT VITAMINS

Speakers at the recent convention of the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America devoted much attention to nourishment and vitamins. Dr. R. R. Williams, the man who isolated vitamin B1 and made it available in usable quantities, was as critical as Dr. Parran, surgeon general of the United States, of the current indiscriminate use of synthetic vitamins as a cure-all.

Except in special cases, the vitamins we need can be better obtained from normal food. Certain ones are there in our green vegetables. Others would be in our grain foods and sugar if we did not over-refine both.

"It is high time," said Dr. Williams, "that we should be taking a detailed census of vitamins' occurrence in foods and exercising every reasonable precaution that our methods of manufacturing, distributing and preparing foods conserve these values and get them to the mouth."

It's a job that ought to appeal to Americans. Who of us is so foolish as really to prefer pills and capsules and cod liver oil to attractive, varied and well-prepared meals?

It is fine that the added vitamins are available when we need them and that so much is understood of their nature and usefulness. But there's no point in throwing overboard all our modern knowledge of food chemistry and our improved methods of preserving, distributing and preparing natural foods.

JOKER IN AGGRESSION

No civilization has ever endured when people thought they could get more out of it than they put into it, says Marian Cuthbert of New York, speaking of negro problems. That was the fallacy of slavery. People couldn't profit by it permanently.

Nations that try to profit by military aggression run up against the same obstacle. They think they can make a net profit by robbing and exploiting and killing their neighbors. And they may seem to be winning for a while, but eventually they register a net loss. Even when they win military victories, they lose by destroying property, good will, cooperation and population. Germany is beginning to realize that now.

This is the age of political confusion. Our politicians about half the time don't seem to know which side they're on.

As for war with Japan, the Japanese, even when most truculent, always seem to be shouting "Hold me back!"

Nations can be ruined also by too much pride—Finland Spain and Japan.

It's great to be a great winner—or a good loser.

Somebody calls this a second-hand fight. Now what can you do with a used war?

Now that Roosevelt has put Finland on the spot, will Stalin come across handsomely?

PROTECTIVE FOODS

Now that the nations of the world are thinking about the amount of food, the quality of food and also if the foods available are rich enough in the three basic elements—proteins, fats and starches—and also in vitamins and minerals, there is one more property of foods that nutrition experts are watching carefully. That is the "protective" foods.

Why are they called protective foods? They are called protective foods because they "protect" or "round out" the everyday diet. That is, it is possible to eat the three basic foods—proteins, fats and starches—and yet not have a protective diet, a diet that protects one from deficiency diseases such as scurvy, rickets, inflammation of the eye, ear, nose and throat and other surface tissues.

In its booklet issued to the Canadian people, "Food for Health in Peace and War", the Canadian Medical Association mentions these protective foods in the very first paragraph.

"The world's best authorities agree that you should eat every day the necessary amounts of 'protective' foods and after that eat whatever suits your appetite. These protective foods are: milk and milk products—butter, cheese, potatoes and other vegetables especially green vegetables, whole grain breads and cereals, raw fruits and canned tomatoes, eggs, meat and fish."

A helpful suggestion is that when there is not much money to spend for food, first on the shopping list should be milk or cheese, potatoes and whole grain products (rolled oats, rolled wheat, and whole wheat bread).

One half of the cereals and flour should be whole grain, such as rolled oats or wheat, and one-half or more of the bread should be whole wheat.

I have spoken before of the protective foods suggested by Professor E. V. McCollum, Johns Hopkins University, who suggests that if in addition to the common or everyday foods eaten by almost everybody, there is always included some daily products and some raw vegetable or fruit, every day, ailments due to lack of any food elements will not occur.

The above suggestions from nutrition experts should be carefully followed by all of us at this time.

Eating Your Way to Health

Do you know what and how much of the various foods you should eat to get a good all-round diet? Do you know which foods are rich in protein, starch, minerals, fats, vitamins? Send today for Dr. Barton's valuable booklet entitled "Eating Your Way to Health" (No. 101). Address your request to The Bell Library, Post Office Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y., enclosing ten cents to cover cost of handling and mailing and mention the Kingston Daily Freeman.

This dinner marked the opening of the Every Member Canvass for the 1942 budget and reports were made by all organizations of the church under the toastmastership of John T. Washburn, senior warden. The canvassers were present to receive their cards and during the week visitations will be made to receive pledges for the year. A report will be made Sunday, November 23 in the parish house from 2 to 6 p. m.

About 60 young people from Blue Mountain, Flatbush, Katonah and Woodstock were present at the youth rally in the Reformed Church last Wednesday evening. A Youth Forum was organized by the local group with Rudolph Wasserbach, president; Ruth Eddy, secretary; and Brian Drucker, treasurer. The next rally will take place in Woodstock at the Reformed Church, February 18, 1942.

It is interesting to note that in October, 1922, Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., observed Veterans' Night when three of the lodge members, who had reached the half century milestone in their Masonic life, were honored by the lodge, and presented with appropriate emblems.

Oscar L. Eastman and George J. Dunn were present and honored that night, but the third member, Wesley D. Hale, was unable to be present, owing to illness.

Other members of the lodge who had already observed their 50th Masonic birthday, many of whom were present that night, were John B. Alliger, LeGrand Becker, William Fudge, John M. Mayer, Winslow Myers, C. A. Parke, J. W. Pells, J. S. Roosa, William B. Scott, George Stephan, Fred Straley, Thad. O. Taylor and James Tongue.

I also recall that in October, 1922, Chester A. Baltz, who had been operating a factory on Field Court, bought the Millen factory on Greenkill avenue, where he commenced the manufacture of pajamas on a large scale. Mr. Baltz and his son are still operating the pajama factory on Greenkill avenue.

It was in October, 1922, that The Freeman began to print radio programs, and in those early days of radio but three stations were presenting regular programs. They were WOR of Newark, KDKA of Pittsburgh, and WGY of Schenectady.

Those were the days when the earphones were used to hear the programs, and it was not until later that the present loud speakers were built into the machines.

In October, 1922, the Rev. Joseph B. Scully of Phenicia, was assigned to St. Mary's Church here to fill the vacancy caused by the transfer of the Rev. Dean John J. Hickey to a New York city church.

The other day I wrote briefly of Kingston's first tented industrial exhibition at the Kingston Fair Grounds in October, 1922. The tents used to house the exhibition were the largest ever erected in the city.

The main tent that housed the auto show, held in connection with the exhibition, was 500 feet long and 40 feet wide; while the tent housing the industrial and commercial exhibits was 320 feet long and 60 feet wide; and the third tent, in which the evening shows were given from a stage was 114 feet long and 12 feet wide.

Undoubtedly there are still many residents of Kingston who recall the exhibition, which was one of the largest and finest ever staged in the Mid-Hudson area.

Labor Has Shown Power in Defying President and Sympathy Strikes May Be Made Illegal in U. S.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 18 — Organized labor has shown its power to defy the President of the United States and interrupt the defense program.

The United Mine Workers Union, in defiance of existing contracts with employers in the commercial coal mines where the closed shop has already been granted, has allowed its locals to go out on a sympathetic strike.

The purpose is to influence the owners of mines owned by the steel companies which are not covered by the agreement.

In Britain sympathetic strikes are illegal. Congress is believed to be ready to pass similar legislation here.

But the manifestation of concerted power in defiance of the government transcends all other aspects of the labor crisis. Will the Congress stand by and see the plea of the President ignored and the government rendered helpless to advance the defense program?

The whole country is watching Washington where the New Deal has coddled labor unions to the point that some of their leaders exhibit no respect whatsoever for the administration that has given them more benefits and privileges than any administration in all American history.

John L. Lewis has said that he had no authority to agree to anything but the closed shop. Hence before the conferences which were held over the week-end it was apparent that there could be no collective bargaining in good faith.

Curiously enough the national labor relations board in an important decision in the so-called Webster case said that the Wagner law holds an employer to be guilty of an unfair labor practice if he sends into a collective bargaining conference anyone who isn't able to negotiate or whose hands are tied on pending demands before the conference starts. This is called failure to bargain in good faith.

Mr. Lewis by his own public admission did not bargain in good faith as the term is used in the Wagner law rulings but there is nothing in the statute to punish any labor leader or union which does not bargain in good faith. The Wagner law penalizes only the employer. The unions can commit every one of them.

There used to be a penalty against wildcat or outlaw strikes in the coal mines. But Mr. Lewis succeeded this year in getting all such penalties eliminated from the National Labor Relations Act. Miners can now go on strike "spontaneously" as they are doing in various commercial mines and suffer no penalty. The national defense mediation board passed that contract and the administration used plenty of pressure to have this penalty clause removed so that there would be no strike in the coal mines last spring.

Today it is apparent that on labor policy generally, the President has been deceived and betrayed by his own friends in the labor movement. He has been urged and persuaded to appoint men who would be "friendly" to labor. He has allowed his whole administration to be permeated with men who would rule in favor of labor and now in time of a critical national emergency, labor union leaders in the C. I. O. have deserted the administration.

The convention of the C. I. O. at Detroit is giving lip service to national defense and is proclaiming that it is in favor of the President's foreign policy but strikes demands that have nothing to do with wages or hours or working conditions but have everything to do with the gaining of the monopoly shop at the expense of the general public and the national defense program.

Congress has been timid and seemingly afraid to offend the C. I. O. It has succumbed to threats again and again. Not long ago when the Smith bill proposing amendments to the Wagner Act was before Congress, the labor lobby threatened congress and the bill died. Likewise this year when anti strike legislation was on the calendar, there came a big C. I. O. lobby which threatened the congressmen, actually invading the corridors of the Capitol in large numbers and the Congress succumbed again.

The excuse given is that the President and his lieutenants really didn't want restrictive legislation passed. But the truth is the Members of Congress have never heard from the vast number of unorganized workers who constitute four-fifths of the working population of the country. One-fifth of the workers are getting the pay increases and forcing the costs of living to rise for all the others. The consumers who include four-fifths of all the workers are not organized in such a manner as to impress Congress with their support.

President Roosevelt is presuming not interested in a fourth term. Hence he has nothing to gain from a statesmanship viewpoint by rallying public sentiment behind a bill like that proposed by Senator Bridges, which would make unlawful such performances as the country is witnessing in the coal situation. If Mr. Roosevelt went to Congress in person and read a message asking for legislation this very week he would get it. The nation waits on his leadership for it has already seen the aggressive leadership of John Lewis, whose isolationist views make him indifferent to the pleas on behalf of the national defense program. The C. I. O. viewpoint today is "labor first" and America's defense program second.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

Washington — On the fifth floor of the old House Office Building, just under the roof is one of the busiest rooms on Capitol Hill.

It's a glassed-in bandbox that is Congress' radio recording studio. There has been written there during the past five years one of the really new chapters of politics and government.

Literally a side show of representation and senators of record could not say a word to their constituents unless those words or accompanying deeds were important enough to make the public prints are now pouring millions of words a year on to aluminum discs that are mailed back to the home states for broadcast to all and sundry.

It would be impossible to list even all the senators who use the studio but some of the regulars picked at random are Senator Taft, who does a 15-minute stint that is broadcast weekly over 14 stations in the same state; Senator Tydings who does 15-minute to half hour talk for one of the big Baltimore stations; Senator Capper, with three stations in Kansas; and Senator Butler, who talks for nine stations in Nebraska.

Among the House regulars, with one or more stations are Reps. Johns, of Wisconsin; Gore, of Tennessee; Mundt, of South Dakota; Priest and Courtney, also of Tennessee; and Bender and Young of Ohio. Both Anthony J. Dimond and Samuel W. King, the delegates from Alaska and Hawaii, respectively, have used the medium of talking to their far-away constituents.

Well known now is the weekly broadcast which Senator W. Lee O'Daniel sends back to the folks in Texas. O'Daniel's hillbilly band comes in for a few numbers during the senator's little "fringe" chat . . . the only music that ever has been recorded in the studio.

Not so well known outside of Texas perhaps is the weekly forum of other members of the delegation. It was Rep. Wright Patman's idea and he acts as master of ceremonies. Whether intentionally so or not, it is in a measure competitive with O'Daniel's 17-station program. It is broadcast on Sundays, as is O'Daniel's, and like his is more or less statewide, going out over a network.

The forum idea, by the way, is growing. The California weekly forum, including all of that state's delegation in a non-political program, has weekly guests from the government departments and agencies. Several other forums are being discussed.

Robert J. Coar has been in charge of the studio ever since it started and is handyman, interviewer, announcer and what-not for the congressmen as well as manager of this waveless "station" that is rapidly coming to blanket the nation.

All the congressmen have to pay for this service is the actual cost of the aluminum recording disc. In spite of heavy priorities on aluminum, it's a pretty safe bet there will be no shortage in discs for congressmen's speeches. The discs cost about $4 and become the property of the congressman. After it is used, the disc is mailed back to the studio and is recycled for use again.

A new phase of political and governmental activity is that combining the lists of studio users, the old-timers in the House and Senate are noticeably few. The conclusion naturally is that the old platform shouting politicians don't take kindly to this new-fangled method of electioneering.

When the first Census of Manufactures was taken in 1910, the manufacturing volume for the United States was $172,000,000 a year. Now the value of manufactured products at factory approximates $60,000,000,000 a year or 350 times the 1910 figure. Production in American factories in one day now equals that of the entire year in 1910.

American women should have more money than the men since they have more pocketbooks to put it in, according to Census figures. Annual production of women's pocketbooks, handbags and purses is more than 64 million whereas billboards and wallets number less than 20 million.

Molly Picon Is Listed on Program

Comedienne Will Appear at Fifth Annual Ball of Ahavath Israel

MOLLY PICON

Molly Picon, outstanding comedienne and star of the musical comedy stage, will appear as a featured attraction on the program of the fifth annual show and dance sponsored by Congregation Ahavath Israel, it was announced yesterday by Herman G. Rafalowsky, chairman of the committee on arrangements. The affair will be held in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium tomorrow evening.

Dick Stabile, master of the saxophone, and his orchestra, will provide the music for the show and for the dancing that will follow. Stabile's band is one of the "name" bands of the country. It broadcasts frequently on coast-to-coast networks, and has made numerous appearances in hotel ballrooms throughout the country. Grace Barrie, charming and talented English singing star, will appear with the orchestra.

Six outstanding Broadway acts will be presented. Among them will be Arthur Boran, prominent radio mimic who can accurately imitate the voices of over 100 famous personalities; and Ashley & Ware, "smile stylists," who will present a number of comedy dance acts.

A telegram was received yesterday from the booking office in New York, stating that Henry Youngman, who was previously announced as the master of ceremonies for the evening, will be unable to be present because of a four-weeks' engagement with Tommy Dorsey. Though Mr. Youngman's presence will be missed, he will be replaced by an equally entertaining master of ceremonies.

Dancing will continue until 1:30 a. m. Owing to the length of the program, the stage show will begin promptly at 8:45 o'clock. It will be the biggest and best in the history of Ahavath Israel balls, the committee promises.

The complete program will be found elsewhere in this issue of The Freeman. Tickets may be obtained under from Dr. Murray H. Greene, 42 Main street, telephone 3386; midtown, from H. G. Rafalowsky, 564 Broadway, and downtown from H. Netburn, 73 Broadway.

The annual Father and Son banquet held at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening was attended by over 100 fathers and sons. The delicious meal was served by the Ladies' Auxiliary and during the evening Paul Zucca led in singing.

The Rev. Herbert C. Greenland, associate pastor of the First Reformed Church, delivered a message to both boys and dads, taking as his subject, "Act Your Age."

Kansas City Puts 57 Auto Drivers In Pickle Tests

Kansas City, Nov. 18 (AP)—Fifty-seven human guinea pigs with a taste for liquor submitted themselves to science today to give police authentic information on alcohol's effect on motorist.

The volunteers, all men, will drink highballs, or beer (the police supply the intoxicants) at half-hour intervals while undergoing rigid examinations of their driving ability. Just to make sure each subject drains his glass, a policeman will be his constant companion.

Each volunteer will drink and drive until disqualified—or he gets too pickled to take the wheel.

Each driver will undergo a thorough physical examination. At 1:30 p. m. he will be handed two ounces of whiskey and given ten minutes to drink it.

Then he must drive a car forward and backward a distance of 200 feet, keeping the wheels within a 12-inch strip. He must drive a figure eight course marked by 16 posts set nine feet apart. This maneuver must be completed satisfactorily within three minutes.

At half-hour intervals each driver will down two more ounces of whiskey and repeat the driving performances.

After it's all over an officer will escort each driver to his home and explain, if necessary, to the little lady.

American factories annually produce more than 1,120,000 tobacco pouches, Census records show. The latest annual production figure on cigar and cigarette cases is 1,509,200.

His remarks were listened to with marked attention.

Another highlight of the evening was the tricks of magic by the "Great Dunworth" of New York city. His performance mystified all and there are still many stunts unanswered by the fathers.

Everett Schutt acted as toastmaster and President Clarence S. Rowland introduced the new boys' secretary, Howard Bunting, and the new physical director, Richard Thomas.

neral in his honor. The time and place have not yet been decided.

On Ernest Udet probably more than any other man connected with the Nazi air force fell responsibility for keeping Germany abreast—and, if possible, ahead—of her enemies in the air.

As chief engineer and chief of supply for the mighty Nazi air arm, it was Udet largely who shaped it as a weapon.

Most famous of Germany's flying aces to survive the World War, he was assigned to the job of driving a small army of German airplane designers to their peak of achievement.

The dare-devil of World War days—credited with shooting down 62 planes and awarded the highest German military decoration, the "Pour Le Merite"—had flown in recent years only to test new types of warplanes.

When new planes appeared in combat in this war, it was Udet who had ordered them and approved their design.

He hated detail, but he had a touch of genius both for motors and aircraft design. When he brought an exhibition plane to the United States in 1931, he "timed" the motor by touch for lack of instruments. He once built a plane without blueprints, working out the design in his head.

He was an excellent cartoonist. One of his stunts to entertain guests in his Berlin bachelor's apartment was splitting door knobs with bullets.

In post-World War years, Udet was known chiefly for his hair-raising stunt flying.

On his 1931 visit to the United States he skinned under New York's Hell Gate bridge across the East river in a type of plane he never had flown before. Two years later he was a stunt flier at the national air races in Los Angeles and in other cities. He was a self-taught glider expert.

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

Chapter One

"Bang It, Asey!"

ASEY MAYO pretended not to hear her, but neither the distant chugging of the evening freight nor the rattle of hailstones against the truck's throbbing hood nor even his own disinclination to listen could drown out the shrill, persistent stream of orders that issued from his Cousin Jennie.

"Bang it, Asey! Bang it! Take the wrench an' bang it, I tell you! Bang it! We only got fifteen minutes left to get over there! Bang it with the wrench!"

Ignoring her impatient knuckle-rappings on the windshield above his head, Asey continued his slow, gentle adjustment of the rusty nut under his fingers, and the recalcitrant windshield wiper continued to scrape grudgingly over a triangle half the size of an ice-cream cone.

"Wrench, wrench, wrench!" Jennie shrieked. "Bang it with the wrench—oh, come here, Asey!" With a weary sigh, Asey straightened up and brushed the accumulated hailstones from the shoulders of his best gray suit. Then, glancing at the winding curves of the Tonset road ahead, he climbed back into the truck.

"See?" Jennie pointed accusingly at the wiper. "Look at it! It don't hardly even waggle now! All your tinkering's only makin' it worse! I tell you, you got to take the wrench, an' bang at it, like Syl always does. It's quarter to six, Asey, an' we're three miles from Quisset. Bang that wiper an' get along!"

Asey leaned back against the slatted seat and shook his head.

"Jennie, I—"

"It certainly doesn't seem a lot to ask you!" Jennie said hotly. "Just to deliver a few clams on time for your poor Cousin Syl, lyin' home there with his ankle all sprained, worryin' if he's goin' to lose his Inn clam business or not! Six is as late as Mrs. Doane'll wait, an' I had a terrible time persuadin' her to wait at all. Six o'clock, she told me over the phone, or she'll get a new clam man!"

"But Jennie, I—"

"Trouble is," Jennie continued, "you're so busy bein' important these days, bein' a director of Porter Motors an' gettin' your picture taken in Washington with Bill Porter an' all those other engine bigwigs, you don't care a snap for me an' Syl!"

"Now look here," Asey said as she paused for breath. "Ten seconds after Bill Porter left me an' my bag at the door, before my hand touched the knob, you were rushin' me off to deliver Syl's clams. You wouldn't listen to my shiffin' the clams to my roadster an' takin' the main road. You insisted on this truck an' this curvin' short cut. You wouldn't believe my warnin' about the hailstorm. Bill an' I drove through!"

"Well, who would?" Jennie retorted. "Who'd expect hail the middle of June? The radio man said drizzle!"

"Whatever he said, hail's what you got," Asey said. "I was to beat this clam dead line, but I don't feel up to pilotin' this vehicle over these curves with two blind crossin's an' three bridges ahead, without seein' more than a half inch of road! An' I cannot make that wiper work!"

"Because you won't bang it. You got to bang it with the wrench!"

"One tap," Asey said, "just one tap, an' that wiper'll break down entirely. Why, it's so near ex-pirin' right now that a cross word'd finish it fore—"

"Oh, give me the wrench!" Jennie said in exasperation. "I'll show you! Give me the wrench, I say! I'll do it!"

"Jennie, if you bust that wiper, we're goin' to stay right here, clams or no clams, till I can see to drive! That wiper can't be banged by any wren—"

"This column's at war, lady! You got to wait."

"Give me that wrench!" Asey shrugged.

Jennie Bangs It

"VERY well," he said. "Here you are. Bang away to your heart's content. An' I'll promise you this. If you can bang that wiper into wipin', I'll get Syl's clams to Quisset by six, even if I have to fly through the hail with 'em gripped in my bare teeth!"

"You remember that!" Jennie said as she clambered out.

Asey winced as she hacked viciously at the wiper, half expecting the windshield itself to chatter under the force of her blows.

Then he opened his eyes wide as the wiper, after a preliminary, palpitating spasm, began flapping evenly back and forth in clean, sweeping strokes.

"See?" Panting a little, Jennie plumped herself down beside him again. "Now, you get me an' Syl's clams to the Whale Inn, an' hustle up—no, don't you start any more fussin'! You promised!"

"All I said," Asey told her with a chuckle, "was 'Uncle.' I'll try to get you there on time, but don't expect any Superman miracles from this jumpy. An' hang on tight."

Swaying around some of the curves and skidding around others, the truck rumbled along the shore road toward Quisset with an accompanying clamor out of all proportion to its speed.

Asey heaved a sigh of relief when the rutted short cut ended and he swung the truck back onto a tarred highway.

"Next time we set out on any clam deliverin' expeditions," he told Jennie as he relaxed his grip on the wheel, "let's give ourselves a break an' drive somethin' faster an' more flexible than this truck. A steam roller, say. How much time we got left?"

"It's eight of six," Jennie said. "We can just about make it. I know we could if you'd only put your mind to it—for mercy's sakes, what're you slowin' down for now? If it's that pesky four corners red light, don't waste time stoppin' for it! You sail right through, Asey!"

"I meant to. Only," Asey leaned forward and rubbed the steam from the windshield, "only—here, lean over an' look Jennie! See those fellers swingin' the red lanterns?"

"What for? What's the matter?"

"Army," Asey said briefly. "They're just startin' to pass."

"One of them columns? One of them long strings of cars an' trucks an' guns?" Jennie's voice rose in a crescendo of dismay.

"Uh-huh. Golly, Jennie, it's the same outfit that Bill an' I spent an hour passin' a week ago today. See, now those fellers with the lanterns are switchin' the control box lights to red all around. I guess they're goin' to hold up everythin' on all sides. There's the bus from Boston pullin' up to our left. I'll get out an' see what our chances are of cuttin' through."

Turning up his coat collar, Asey walked across to the nearest soldier, who was energetically swinging his red lantern at the bus.

The Army

A MINUTE later he reported back to Jennie.

"Looks like we got to wait till the bitter end. It's a timed problem, an' the column's runnin' late because of the hail, and they won't let the bus through even though that wouldn't mean stoppin' the column. Huh? If only I had my roadster, Jennie, I could beat it up the West Tonset road an' circle ahead of 'em, but I couldn't ever make it in this truck of Syl's."

"Did you tell that fellow who you was?" Jennie demanded. "Did you tell him your picture was in the paper with the Defense Commission yesterday, an' that you was Cape Cod's detective?"

Asey chuckled. "Nope," he said. "I didn't bring up the Hayseed Sleuth angle, Jennie. We just got to wait. Everybody's got to wait. It's too bad about the clams, but we'll explain to Mrs. Doane how we got thwarted by the Army. She can't carp at that. The Army takes precedence over anybody's clams. So—Jennie, where you goin'? Jennie, come back here an' sit down! Jennie!"

"You leave go of my arm!" "Jennie, this hail's changin' to rain—look outside. It's already pourin' pitchforks an' gun shovels, an' the only thing you'll get from goin' out an' fussin' at those fellers with the lanterns is a good drenchin'! Now, sit down an' be patient!"

"After all I been through today, with Syl an' his ankle, an' the doctor takin' so long to come, an' tryin' to get someone to deliver these clams, an' then you an' that wiper, no Army," Jennie said with finality, "is goin' to stop me now, not with the Inn almost in sight! I'm goin' to deliver these clams by six!"

With a stride that reflected her belligerent determination, Jennie marched over to the soldier Asey had talked to.

Asey sighed and turned up his coat collar again as snatches of her shrill protests reached him even over the clatter of the passing column. He had no desire to sally forth into the downpour, but when Jennie began to pump her fist up and down in people's faces someone had to step in and curtail her.

He arrived on the scene just in time to hear the soldier's patient answer to her verbal onslaught.

"Lady, for the purposes of this problem, we're theoretically at a standstill, an' you can't pass through this column. This column's at war, see?" You got to wait—he! Hey, you! Lady!"

Frantically swinging his lantern, the soldier alternately yelled and blew his whistle at a small sedan that had crept around the Boston bus and was now slowly edging behind him, in front of Syl's truck.

Under the impetus of the soldier's shouted orders, the sedan was rather reluctantly backed up alongside the bus.

"Women drivers!" the soldier said wearily to Asey. "Women're the worst! Always got something they got to get to. Baby to feed. Cake in the oven. They got to do this, they got to do that! They got to get past! My God, I can't seem to make 'em understand they're smack in the middle of a theoretical Blitzkrieg! They—"

"Young man!" The driver of the sedan, a slight woman whose face was barely visible under her large umbrella, had been politely clearing her throat to get the soldier's attention. Now, apparently realizing the futility of throat-clearing in competition with so many varieties of engine noises, she reached across Asey and was tugging at the soldier's raincoat. "Young man, I fully understand—the justice of your stopping cross traffic, but considering that I am driving on the same road, and that my passing this intersection will in no way impede the Army's progress, I feel that you might reconsider and allow me to go through."

Rockefeller Tells Why He Voted No On Neutrality Law

Congressman Lewis K. Rockefeller of the 27th District, of which Ulster county is a part, has written a letter to all those who communicated to him with respect to the proposed amendment to the so-called Neutrality Law, which permits the sending of our merchant ships into war zones, and against which he cast his vote.

Congressman Rockefeller in sending the letter to those who wrote him, said today that he was not in any way apologizing for his vote against the amendment, but merely letting the people know how he voted and the reason why.

In the hundreds of messages which he received regarding the amendment, less than ten were in favor of its adoption. Congressman Rockefeller's letter reads as follows:

Congress of the United States
 House of Representatives
 Washington, D. C.

November 13, 1941

Late this afternoon the House, by the small margin of eighteen votes out of a total of four hundred six votes cast, adopted the amendment to the so-called Neutrality Law which permits the sending of our merchant ships into war zones. I am one of the one hundred ninety-four members who voted against the amendment.

I studied very carefully, with an open mind and without any political prejudice or consideration the testimony given and the arguments advanced by both the proponents and opponents of this amendment but I found nothing therein which dispelled from my mind the thought that this amendment means nothing more nor less than the entry of America into the actual fighting of the present war abroad which in the end will necessitate the sending of our young men and boys to fight and die on foreign soil. Moreover I do not see either the instant necessity of America entering this war as a fighting participant or do I believe that America is equipped and prepared to enter upon such a hazardous undertaking at this time.

With those thoughts still in my mind, neither could I conscientiously have voted for the adoption of the amendment nor, had I so voted, would I have reflected the almost unanimous wishes of the great number of residents of this Congressional District who communicated their views to me.

It is my desire and I believe it to be the desire of the great majority of our citizens to give and give quickly to all those regardless of race, creed or color, who are fighting against Hitler, his allies and everything for which they stand all the material aid we can possibly give without weakening our home defenses or lessening the safeguards of our citizens here and I have consistently voted for all appropriation bills for our national defense and for aiding those who are fighting against Hitler and his cohorts even though I do not approve of some of the methods followed in spending those huge sums.

Whether or not my vote against this amendment meets with your approval, please be assured that I did what seems to me to be for the very best interests of our America and its loyal citizens.

I thank you for writing me and hope you will continue to let me know your views on any proposals before the Congress in which you may be interested.

Very truly yours,
 LEWIS K. ROCKEFELLER

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Extravagance

Bronwood, Tex.—Most discharged soldiers get money for the trip home and nothing more. Johnny Fowler got coffee, too.

Fowler, a private in the 41st Infantry at nearby Camp Bowie, was given his discharge and 15 cents transportation expense. Bus fare was 10 cents.

Business Is Good!

Seattle—Police wanted to know why grocer R. P. Avery waited two hours to report his $50 hold-up.

Avery, who has no telephone, explained he was so busy he just "couldn't get away from the store any sooner."

Excited Fan

Iowa, City, Ia.—The University of Iowa stadium's "lost and found" department offered this as ample evidence that excitement ran high during the Iowa-Minnesota football game Saturday:

A partial plate with teeth attached was turned in at the department following the game.

Good Place to Learn

Madison, Wis.—Mrs. Clarence Madison, wife of the president of the University of Wisconsin, enrolled as a student in the school's College of Agriculture short course.

She wanted to learn how to manage a dairy farm she purchased recently, she explained.

COOKBOOKLET OF THE WEEK

Fudge icing is a delectable covering for your chocolate layer cake. Pecans make a tasty garnish, or if there's a birthday in the family, use candles for decoration. There are many delicious chocolate suggestions in the new Cake Book, third in our Cookbooklet series.

NEW CAKE BOOK HAS SECTION ON AMERICA'S FAVORITE FLAVOR — CHOCOLATE — OFFERS 21 DIFFERENT VARIATIONS

A Gallup Poll on favorite flavors in America would undoubtedly bring a ten to one response in favor of chocolate—it's most popular in candies, drinks, sodas and other confections. And when it comes to cake, the preference is almost unanimous. Who can resist a wedge of rich brown, velvety Devil's Food cake with thick Fudge Frosting?

The new Cookbooklet, "250 Classic Cake Recipes," third in the Kingston Daily Freeman's series of 20 booklets coming to readers, one each week, devotes an entire section to Chocolate Cakes.

Craftsmen's Club Plans Annual Minstrel Show

The Craftsmen's Club of Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., is planning to present its fourth annual minstrel show in the Reformed Church of the Comforter Hall on Wynkoop Place, on Thursday and Friday evenings, December 4 and 5.

The success of these minstrels has grown steadily each year, and those in charge of the present show state that it will be even bigger and better than those of other years.

This is the first year that the Craftsmen's Club is staging its show at the Reformed Church of the Comforter Hall.

The minstrels this year will have many of the old favorites back in their usual roles, and one of the snappiest shows of the season will be presented.

New York Briefs

New York, Nov. 18 (AP)—The New York State Division of Housing last night announced approval of a state loan of $1,116,362 to the city of Buffalo's Municipal Housing Authority for construction of 225 brick houses for defense workers. The loan is repayable over a 50-year period.

New York, Nov. 18 (AP)—Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., yesterday announced the retirement of his assistant, Robert P. Beyer, who had served the state department of law for 32 years.

New York, Nov. 18 (AP)—Inspection of New York State Guard units by regular army officers will begin here December 1, it was announced yesterday. Brigades at Buffalo and Albany similarly will be checked.

New York, Nov. 18 (AP)—Peter Brenner, Jr., 69, arrested last September at his barricaded estate near Monticello, N. Y., was indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury on charges of representing himself as an officer in the U. S. Army and Navy.

During the first four months of 1941, about 20,000 more babies were born in the United States than in the first third of 1940. Census Bureau statisticians predict a rate of 18.5 for 1941—only 0.3 less than the last reported (1937) rate in Germany.

Reports Indicate Hunters Have Found Many Deer

Deer hunters are reported to have been meeting with success in the Catskills since the opening of the deer season Saturday. One observer stated that he saw 14 deer being taken through Phoenicia Sunday while another placed the number at 19. It is stated that several deer have been taken on the Shawangunk mountains, one of the lucky hunters being Ralph Stedner of Ellenville.

In addition to the bucks which may be legally possessed several does have been found dead, shot either by hunters who were too anxious or excited to wait until they were sure of what they were firing at, or by others intentionally who were unable to get away with the carcass.

Two or three black bears also were brought in by hunters over the week-end.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

Manhattan Novelties: Witty, jolly, seemingly never ruffled at anything that may happen, he is always surrounded by friends no matter where he goes. His business ventures have been so successful that though only a little past 50, he retired, a wealthy man some years ago. He is very fond of children, and sons and daughters of his associates are so fond of him that they call him "uncle." Nevertheless, his friends look on him as a born bachelor, one in whose life romance has never entered. As fall comes, he leaves New York and does not return for two weeks or more. When he gets back, for a little while, he seems depressed. Then his spirits return. Only a very few of his friends know that once a year he journeys to the West—to a bouquet of white roses on the grave of the girl who died 25 years ago on the day before she was to have become his bride.

Reunion: At ten o'clock in the morning, three men of the sea, two British and one American marine, met by appointment in Schrafft's restaurant in Times square and after touching glasses, had a whisky sour. The American marine, Ted Annenberg, had met one of the Brits, Ian B. Rhodes, twice before—once in Shanghai and once in Australia. After the toast, they related experiences since the last meeting. Annenberg recounted the bombing of the Panay and then some happenings in Spain in 1938. Rhodes, wearing a beard which seems to be a mark of British survivors of marine disasters, told of the sinking of H.M.S. Cashmere at Crete. The third member of the party, Edgar S. Everest, also had a contribution—two ships had been shot from under him in the Mediterranean, H.M.S. Warspite and H.M.S. Valiant.

Busy: Whenever I hear a remark about the easy lives led by actresses and actors who can sleep until late in the afternoon and then are on stage only a little more than two hours eight times a week, I think of Lucia Seger, whose latest appearance is as the souvenir-hunting grandmother in "The More the Merrier." In addition to playing that part, Miss Seger is also understudy for both Josephine Hull and Jean Adair in "Arsenic and Old Lace." So before she can go on with her part in the new play, she has to see whether she will be needed in the one that has been running all these months. As a result, she has an understudy in "The More the Merrier" ready to take over at a moment's notice. Oh yes, she also has to report for "Arsenic and Old Lace" rehearsals once a week, which means rising in the early hours.

Experience: A friend reports that when he was in Havana during the summer, he noticed a fellow passenger tossing, not pennies but half dollars to native divers. Inquiry developed that he was Miguelito Valdes, vocal soloist with Xavier Cugat's orchestra. It seems that Senor Valdes, in his youth, made his living by singing for tourists along Havana's Prado and diving for coins tossed from ships. Hence his liberality when he went back for a visit. Incidentally, here's the way Senor Valdes says it is done: You dive under the coin and look up for it. Don't grab because the pressure of the water will squirt it out of your hand and it'll be lost.

Odd: One of New York's strange sights is the line-up of tanned, husky young men at the Hotel Roosevelt bar ordering and drinking—milk or orangeade. They are pilots of our huge transport planes killing time before taking off on scheduled flights, and they eat a touch liquor or beer for 12 hours before flying.

Remarks: Peter Van Steeden observes that women's clothes may be extreme but never to extremities. . . . Billy Mills asserts that some married men yawn because that's the only chance they get to open their mouths. . . . Phil Spitalny holds that while woman was only a side issue at the Creation, she's the whole works now. . . . Hi Brown holds that many drama critics believe that the play's the thing.

End Piece: I chuckled at the observation James Sullivan Collins made as he scanned some cables from overseas: "If Hitler takes Ireland he can't blame anyone but himself."

Townsendites to Meet

On Wednesday, November 19, No. 2 Townsend Business Men's Club will hold its bi-monthly meeting at Mannerchor Hall, 77 Greenkill avenue. Issues of great importance to both members and the public will be discussed. A short business session will be followed by good music both entertaining and for dancing. The public is invited.

The American mink is equally at home on land or under water.

Service Slated

A Thanksgiving Day service will be held at the First Church of Christ Scientist, 161 Fair street, Kingston at 11 a. m. The subject of the lesson will be "Thanksgiving." Everybody is welcome. The Golden text is: "Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High; and call upon me in the day of trouble: I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify me" (Psalm 50:14).

German Also Serves

Somewhere in England, Nov. 8 (AP)—Germans and Russians, Austrians and Poles stand side by side in a company of the British army, a pioneer (engineering) corps unit made up of aliens. One German—a private—holds the iron cross. He and all the other Germans and Austrians express bitter opposition to the Nazis. They have served with the British since before Dunkerque.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

SOCIETIES • CLUBS • PERSONALS

Officers Installed At Atharhacton Rebekah Lodge

Thursday evening, November 13, Atharhacton Rebekah Lodge No. 357 installed the following officers for the coming year: Grace Apt, noble grand; Goldie Everett, vice-grand; Helen Broskie, recording secretary; Anna Van Aken, treasurer; Anna Young, financial secretary; Lulu Hudler, warden; Helen LeCovey, conductor; Gladys Hornbeck, O.S.G.; Carrie Mericle, I.S.G.; Elizabeth Brooks, R.S.N.G.; Elizabeth Schwenk, L.S.N.G.; Harriet Palen, R.S.V.G.; Nettie Auchmoody, L.S.V.G.; Leah Jones, chaplain; Edna Hardwick, S.P.N.G.; Etta Woodworth, musician; Mary Hudler, R.S.P.N.G.; Millicent Van Keuren, R.S. chaplain; Charlotte Jones, L.S. chaplain; Mary Reis, degree mistress; Rose Fout, press agent; Florence DuBois, historian.

The lodge rooms presented a beautiful setting for the installation. They were lavishly decorated in pastel colors of crepe streamers and flowers. Acting Marshal Sister Ida LeFevre presented to the noble grand and lodge the district deputy president, Evelyn Geisler, and staff of District No. 1.

The impressive installation ceremonies were in charge of the district deputy and staff. At the conclusion of the installation of officers the lodge was called to recess and a degree and reception were given in honor of the district deputy president who was celebrating her homecoming.

There were guests present from several sister lodges. Among them were Sister Elizabeth Gillespie, district deputy, and staff from District No. 2, Orange county; Sister Florence Gippert, P. A. musician and present member of finance committee of Queen Lodge of Saugerties; Sister Anna Van Aken, P. A. president of Atharhacton Lodge; Sister Rogers, P. A. secretary; Sister Ethel Jones, P. A. marshal of Atharhacton Lodge.

Honors due their station were given to all honored guests who in turn made pleasing speeches and remarks. Sister Geisler, district deputy president, was presented with a floor lamp from the members of her staff and many other gifts were also received. She in turn gave each one of her staff a gift. The retiring noble grand was presented with a P.N.G. jewel and she also gave gifts to her officers of the past year.

After the closing of the lodge meeting, refreshments were served and a social enjoyed.

Music Pupils Have First Social Meeting

A most delightful musical afternoon was spent, Saturday, at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church Hall by the piano pupils of Miss Lina M. Schmidt, who attended the first of a series of social gatherings at which musical information and development are combined with entertainment. An interesting program was given by the following pupils: Miss Charlotte Cooper, Miss Marilyn Jacobson, Miss Anne Dwyer, Charles Arnold, Miss Electa Salzmann, Miss Kathryn Licardo, Miss Dorothy Hornbeck, Miss Ruth Dudenhausen, Miss Helen Behrens, Miss Jane Holcomb, Miss Beverly Bonestell and Miss Muriel Navy. The composers, Chopin and Debussy, were discussed and a talk was given by Miss Schmidt on "The Importance of Technical, Theoretical and Historical Knowledge in the Making of Musicians."

At these gatherings every effort is made to promote sociability and to cultivate the friendly spirit among the pupils. The following pupils were introduced to the class: Joan Weeks, Elizabeth French, Barbara Millens, Marilyn Jacobson, Jean Comstock, Chloe Comstock, James Andretta, Bernice Trowbridge, Louise Cordts, Nancy Kane, Joan Burns, Joan Ewig, Elaine Beechner, Bianca Erdt, Elaine Navy, Warren Johnson, Richard Wagner, Sheila Carey.

The pupils arranging for the next program are the Misses Jessie Kappelian and Peggy Schilling.

Guild Holds Card Party

Last evening the Henrietta Wynkoop Guild of the First Reformed Church held a dessert bridge party at the church house. There were 13 tables in play and honors were awarded to each table. The party was arranged by the Circle of Mrs. Edward Morris and Mrs. Ward Inzalsbe, who were assisted by Mrs. Henry Reed, Mrs. Cornelius Treadwell, Miss Mary Case and Miss Francis Pat-

Pupils Visit Local Bakery

Above are pictured the pupils of the first and second grades of the Hurley school, who recently visited Schwenk's Bakery in conjunction with their study of various trades. There were 26 children in the group and their teacher is Mrs. Mary F. Welhaf.

Olympian Club Studies "Citizenship in Crisis"

The Misses Finn arranged the program at the Olympian Club meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. A. L. Berwin on Furnace street. They took for their topic, "Citizenship in the Crisis."

In the absence of Miss Florence Finn her excellent paper was read by Miss Rena Finn. She said that the world needs sound ideas held before it and that American freedom must live, and must be defended by Americans. She also stated that Americans should make every effort to absorb aliens in our country.

Following the reading of the paper, Miss Rena Finn read several interesting selections. One of these was a story of an alien family that became true American citizens.

The next meeting of the club will be held with the Misses Finn, December 1. Mrs. James Murphy, Jr., will be the speaker.

Hostess at Party

Esopus, Nov. 18.—An afternoon and evening party was held, Sunday, at the home of Miss Barbara Osberg in Esopus. Outdoor games were played as long as the weather permitted. A selection of cowboy and modern pieces were played by four of the guests. There were Eddie Lucas of Kingston, according to Joseph Guggler, guitar; Otto Guggler, harmonica; and Charles Guggler, banjo. A light supper was served and before the guests left they enjoyed popping popcorn. Those who attended were: the Misses Mary and Kathryn Schick, Dr. Connelly, Rose Mary Lenihan of Kingston and Eddie Lucas of Kingston; Joseph, Otto and Charles Guggler, Alvin Lindemann and Harold Jones of Esopus.

Annual Variety Show To Be Given This Week

Miss Frances Quigley Honored at Shower

Miss Frances A. Quigley was given a surprise bridal shower Monday evening, by a group of friends in honor of her approaching marriage to Vincent P. McDermott. She was presented with many gifts. The home was decorated in blue, pink and white. After an evening of fun, a delicious supper was served at midnight. Those present were the Misses Theresa Lloyd, Sally Gallagher, Marie McDonough, Irene McDonough, Mary Quigley, Marjorie Zoller, Stella Bellini, Olga Bellini, Helen McManus, Kathryn Ryan, Margaret Schultz and Mrs. Hugh Quigley. Mrs. P. McDermott, Mrs. William Kerr, Mrs. Mary Welhaf and Mrs. William Parmalee.

Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schantz of Long Branch, N. J., celebrated their 25th Silver Wedding Anniversary, Sunday, November 16, with a dinner and reception at the Hofbrau. Decorations for the occasion were in silver and white. Toastmaster was Adolf Stumpf who also presented the couple with gifts. Miss Gloria Schantz sang "Oh Promise Me." Guests present were: Mrs. J. Stumpf, Mrs. J. Schantz and son, Bob, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schantz and son, Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schantz, and daughter, Gloria, Mrs. John Schantz, and son, Donald, Mrs. Fred Will, Mr. and Mrs. George Schantz, Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Stumpf, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lawrence and daughter, Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Van Buren, Miss Marie Freer, Miss Emma Kohler.

Heins-Brown

Miss Elizabeth K. Brown of 216 Ten Broeck avenue and Robert A. Heins of Glasco were married, November 15, by the Rev. F. B. Seeley. Attendants were Miss Susan Heins and Karl Brown.

Hospital to Celebrate Anniversary With Tea

Ten years ago this month, Ulster county opened its new tuberculosis hospital on Golden Hill. To celebrate this occasion the hospital is holding a reception and tea Sunday afternoon, December 7, from 3 to 5 o'clock. Assisting will be the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital Auxiliary and the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health.

During these years the hospital has proved its worth. It is now classed as one of the finest in New York state. Since its opening in 1931, 694 patients have been admitted and cared for, and 21,035 patients have been examined and X-rayed in the out-patient department.

The death rate from tuberculosis has dropped about 35 per cent in these ten years in the county. However, the disease still presents a great problem but with the co-operation of all citizens, officials believe that tuberculosis can be eradicated by 1960.

Mrs. Laidlaw Gives Paper at Sorosis

The regular weekly meeting of the Sorosis Club was held at the home of Mrs. Guy Chaney, 146 Franklin street. Mrs. Henry Millonig, Jr., president of the club, gave an interesting report of her trip to the State Convention of the State Federation of Women's Clubs held last week. The state president, Mrs. Guy Chaney, presided. The theme of the convention was "The Age of Confusion." All phases of life were represented in the speeches in connection with the topic and among the speakers were Dr. Ryan Dixon Fox and Dr. Laurens Seelye.

Mrs. Laidlaw gave the paper for the day on "Plays of Ideas: 1910-1920." She mentioned Percy MacKaye as an outstanding playwright of the period and his plays leaned toward the psychological and supernatural. He used a great deal of pagantry. His best known play was "The Scarecrow."

Mrs. Laidlaw was introduced by Mrs. Ethel M. Jones, past Grand Representative, and she in turn presented Mrs. Van Aken. Both distinguished guests were fittingly welcomed by the Worthy Matron of Clinton Chapter, Mrs. Rosemary Jones. During the evening a degree was presented by the past Matrons of Clinton Chapter for the two guests of honor. Solists for the degree were also a past Matron, Mrs. Gladys C. Muller, who sang two selections.

Addresses were made by the honored guests and all state officers who were present. Both the Grand Matron, Mrs. Purvis, and the Grand Secretary, Mrs. Pond, spoke at some length on the special project which the Order of the Eastern Star is taking up this year, that of providing friendly, homelike contracts for the sons and daughters of Eastern Star members who are in the service of our country.

At the close of the evening light refreshments were served.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

Flatbush P.T. A. Miss Rich of the New Paltz Normal School faculty will be the speaker at the November meeting of the Flatbush P.T. A. Her message will be of interest to everyone and the public is invited to attend on Tuesday evening, November 18 at the school.

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Beany of 411 Albany avenue, are celebrating their 5th wedding anniversary today. This evening they will have a supper party at their home in honor of the occasion.

Mrs. Harry P. Van Wagenen of John street is in Walton today where this afternoon she spoke at the meeting of the Home Bureau Unit and this evening she will speak at a meeting of the Grange.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Scoville of 18 Bolyedere street spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Costello of Flatbush avenue.

Tri-Hi Initiation

Monday night, Tri-Hi of the Y. W. C. A. held the formal initiation of the new members. This was done by an impressive candle light service. It was then stated that Tuesday and Wednesday of this week the formal initiation would be conducted.

A short business meeting was held and the announcement made that the suggested first aid course would start the Monday after Thanksgiving.

Members Honored By Clinton Chapter Of Eastern Star

Clinton Chapter, No. 445, Order of the Eastern Star, entertained in honor of two of its members Friday evening at Masonic Temple, Miss Alice M. Scardfield who was re-elected Grand Treasurer of the Grand Chapter, State of New York, at the Grand Chapter session held in New York city last month, and Mrs. Anna Van Aken, who served Clinton Chapter as its Forty Matron in 1942 and was recently honored with an appointment as Grand Representative of the Grand Chapter of Kansas near the Grand Chapter of New York.

Previous to the meeting a delicious dinner was served to 100 guests in the Temple dining-room. As the members of the local chapter and guests from many sections of the state assembled for the meeting, a program of entertainment was enjoyed consisting of a number of selections by the Blue Ridge Ramblers, vocal solos by Mrs. Robert H. Pixley accompanied by Mrs. Julius Gifford, a piano solo by Miss Barbara Jones, and a duet by Miss Barbara and her mother, Mrs. Rosemary Jones.

Distinguished members of the order present were: Mrs. Mary E. Purvis, U. T. A. Grand Matron, Hugh A. Steward of Flatbush, Grand Patron, Mrs. Annie M. Pond of Douglass, Grand Secretary, and Mrs. May B. Johnson of New York city, and Mrs. Mabel G. Klaff of Huntington, past grand Matron. Also Mrs. Edna Budd, District Deputy Grand Matron, and Samuel McCoubrey, District Grand Lecturer, of the Greene-Ulster district. Mrs. Catherine E. Greer, District Deputy Grand Matron of the Columbia-Dutchess, Putnam district, and Mrs. Vivian C. Wykoon, District Deputy of the Delaware-Sullivan district, and many others.

Miss Scardfield was introduced by Mrs. Ethel M. Jones, past Grand Representative, and she in turn presented Mrs. Van Aken. Both distinguished guests were fittingly welcomed by the Worthy Matron of Clinton Chapter, Mrs. Rosemary Jones. During the evening a degree was presented by the past Matrons of Clinton Chapter for the two guests of honor. Solists for the degree were also a past Matron, Mrs. Gladys C. Muller, who sang two selections.

Addresses were made by the honored guests and all state officers who were present. ### Should Bride Choose Pattern of Silver and Other Gifts?

A question that seems to worry many brides-to-be is that of whether it is really in good taste as well as good manners for a bride to choose the pattern of silver, china, and glassware, that she likes, or whether it is in best taste to say nothing and let her friends and even perhaps her relatives give her what they like. A letter asks:

"Could I possibly pick out the patterns bought until the sets are completed? My friends as well as my relatives are sure to ask me for suggestions. So could I tell them that at any one of our three leading stores, they can look over the lists of the things I already have—or haven't. Since I will mark every sort of house-furnishing item, there will be pieces of varying prices to choose from. I can't see that it could be placing anybody in an embarrassing position, but some of my family think the fact that I shall know what each item costs makes the idea all wrong. Will you write something about it in the paper?"

To this I can say that it is not only all right, but a perfectly accepted practice that is very helpful to the givers as well as satisfactory to the bride. As for knowing what things cost, she would know much more accurately when exchanging duplicates or objects which she cannot use, than by trying to remember the price tags on objects picked out for their attractiveness, and the price tags of many not even looked at.

A Present to a Shut-In Stranger

Dear Mrs. Post: The mother of a very dear friend of ours is very ill, and although we have never met her, we would like to send her something, not so much for herself, but as a mark of appreciation of our friend. Flowers are out of the question for several reasons which I won't take time to explain: candy and fruit are also prohibited on her diet, and her eyesight is failing. Have you any suggestions?

Answer: If she loves music, and has a phonograph, I would suggest that you find out what record—or records—she would like. Or perhaps you might find something allowed on her diet, but hard to get, like calves foot jelly, for example. Or for rather more of a present, perhaps a soft, thin, knitted sack or shawl might be welcome.

So many requests have been made for copies of my article on details concerned with training camps (behavior of visitors and presents for the men), that I have had it printed as a leaflet and will be very glad to send to anyone who sends me a self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. Leaflets cannot be mailed unless self-addressed envelope bears correct amount of postage. (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Cheating gum produced in the 26 United States gum factories has an annual value at factory of more than $60,000,000, an increase of 7.1 per cent in two years, Census reports show.

Schirick Grants Divorce Decree to Catherine May

Catherine May has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from her husband George May, Jr., of the town of Rosendale, by Justice Harry E. Schirick after a hearing at special term of Supreme Court held on November 7. Peter H. Harp appeared for the plaintiff. Married at City Hall, Newark, N. J., on October 10, 1929, the plaintiff alleges acts in town of Rosendale at Binnewater, on September 1, last, upon which to base her complaint.

By the decree the plaintiff is awarded custody of a child and the court directs the defendant to pay $12 weekly toward the support and maintenance of the infant. The decree also directs that the defendant may visit the infant at his home at stated intervals and that the plaintiff may remarry but that the defendant is prohibited from again marrying except with the express order of the court. The order of the court also directs that application may be made at a later time to modify the judgment regarding amount of alimony.

American factories now annually produce more than $86,000,000 of bathroom scales, according to the Census Bureau.

Richard H. Arnold Takes His Life at Poughkeepsie

Richard H. Arnold, 57, former corporation counsel of Poughkeepsie; secretary of the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce, widely known attorney, and a U. S. referee in bankruptcy cases for the Southern New York District, shot himself through the heart in the workroom of his home, 12 Whitehouse avenue, Poughkeepsie, shortly after 3:45 o'clock Monday afternoon.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Lucy Mates

Arnold, was in the house at the time and was attracted by the sound of the shot. She ran downstairs to find her husband stretched out on the floor.

Dr. Howard P. Carpenter, medical examiner, after an autopsy reported that the cause of death was suicide by gunshot wound in the heart.

CAPTURED BY UNITED STATES WARSHIP

Loaded with rubber and automobile tires destined for the Reich or Nazi-dominated Europe, the German motor ship Odenwald (above) was seized in the south Atlantic by an unnamed U. S. warship. At the time of her capture, the Odenwald was flying the Stars and Stripes in the guise of the U. S. merchant ship Willmott. The vessel, damaged in an attempt at scuttling, limped under her own power into the harbor of San Juan, Puerto Rico, with a U. S. navy crew aboard.

London, Nov. 18 (AP)—Many German soldiers fighting on the cold Russian front are "rigged out with women's fur clothing and other makeshifts," an authoritative source declared today. Virtual Civil War Is Raging
In Many Parts of Yugoslavia

Turbulence Sweeps Over
Broad Areas; Mass
Killings Fail to Stop Outbursts

Zagreb, Croatia, Nov. 18 (AP)—Information reaching here from throughout Axis-disembled Yugoslavia indicates a situation charged with distrust, unrest, terrorism and even, in some areas, virtual civil war.

These reports are necessarily fragmentary because of poor communications and military control, but they add up to a picture of turbulence.

Well-equipped soldiers of the puppet Serb government, supported by German occupation forces, are described as engaged in "desperate fighting" with remnants of Yugoslavia's army, rebellious Chetnik guerrilla units and what are described as "Communist bands."

Even in nominally-independent Croatia, armored trains patrol the railways in a fight against sabotage. In the Black Mountains of Italian-occupied Montenegro, villages have been bombed and burned where antagonistic Montenegrins have resisted the occupying forces.

(A spokesman in London for the Yugoslav government-in-exile declared last week that, despite mass executions of 350,000 Yugoslavs, relentless mountain warfare waged by 80,000 guerrillas had wrested most of Serbia from the Axis.)

Macedonia, absorbed by Bulgaria after the Balkan campaign, virtually is sealed up as a news source, but there have been reports of outbreaks there, too.

Field Marshal Milan Nedice, the Serb premier, himself has appealed for a halt to the fighting, warning recently that full-fledged civil war was developing.

He named seven towns which already had been laid in ashes as a result of the fighting. Advances received here since then have reported at least 150 rebels or "Communists" killed and innumerable others wounded.

in a vain attempt to halt their troops.

In the Crimea campaign, Adolf Hitler's field headquarters reported that German combat and dive-bomber planes dealt "devastating blows" to fortifications and port facilities at Sevastopol, Russia's great Black Sea naval base, while Nazi infantrymen were reported fighting before the city's outer defenses.

Nazi front-line dispatches said 60 Russian transports had been sunk and 69 others damaged in aerial attacks at Sevastopol, Kerch and other Crimean ports. The high command yesterday reported the fall of Kerch, bridgehead to the Caucasus oil fields.

On the Ukraine front, a bulletin from Hitler's headquarters said

Axis armies driving into the Donets river industrial basin had occupied additional territory and that the enemy was thrown out of field positions which some planes stubbornly defended."

The Red army command said Russian planes operating on the southern front destroyed 118 Nazi trucks, five armored vehicles and 500 infantrymen.

Weather and road conditions in the south were reported improving. The Moscow radio said German attempts to break through Red army defenses at the approaches to Rostov-on-Don, which guards the northern route to the Caucasus, had been driven off with heavy losses.

Not Involved

Robert P. Mayr and Tyler Hughes, Jr., who were arraigned in county court recently on charges of burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry, were charged with entering a place at Kerhonkson and not with entering a Plank road stand as previously stated. Hughes' plea of guilty was entered to the indictment growing out of the Kerhonkson incident and he was not involved in the road-stand incident.

Close Turkey Day Games Seen; White Eagles Play Tonight

Middies May Lose Gobeo for Contest With Port Jervis

Local DUSO League Battle Between Newburgh and Kingston Should Be Closely Contested

While all of Kingston and Newburgh football fans remain on edge for Thursday's annual DUSO League game at municipal stadium some of this interest has shifted to Middletown. The Middies meet Port Jervis on Thursday in the other league encounter.

The cause for this shift is due to the announcement that Tony Gobeo, ace Middy back, may miss the entire game against Port Jervis because he has been laid low due to an attack of appendicitis. Doctors didn't order an operation immediately.

Although this operation hasn't been performed yet, it is very doubtful that Coach Johnny Bateman will allow his star performer to take part in this important clash with Port Jervis. Gobeo is one of the most highly-rated football players in this region and a chance of letting him play with the team might end his grid warfare for all time.

Chase Praises Rutan

To make things worse for the Middies Coach Al Chase of Port Jervis came out with a remark that Eddie Rutan, his ace backfield star, has been the best man he ever coached. Rutan will be on the firing line against Middletown Thanksgiving Day.

All in all, the ill-luck to Gobeo and the high praise by Chase of Rutan, gives this game more interest than had been expected. A victory over Middletown would throw the DUSO League standings into a triple tie providing Newburgh clamps down on Kingston.

Of course, all of this is pregame dope. Gobeo may be pronounced fit to play and he may not. Rutan may be the best player Chase ever taught and again he may not. Even without Gobeo, the Middies are strong and should turn back Port by at least two touchdowns.

Getting back to the Newburgh-Kingston clash at the uptown ball park forecasts a day for the football to see a lot of air action. Coach Bill Elder has been drilling his boys with emphasis on pass defense. Elder said the other day, "My boys have been particularly weak on enemy passing."

"I've heard that Kingston is doing a lot of passing, mostly on offense. The result of this year's Turkey Day clash may hinge on this department. I'm giving the boys extra work on this and we should be pretty well fortified to break up the Maroon pass plans." In all probability the Maroons will do a lot more passing than the experts even had expected. With Al Flick out of action with a wrenched arm it looks like most of Kingston's attack will be centered on the aerials. Flick, however, may be ready to play some by game time. This hasn't been confirmed or denied as yet.

Favors Kingston

A Newburgh writer talking about Thursday's game placed Kingston as the favorite to whip the Hilly City gridders. Undoubtedly all of this is based on the fact that reports have been reaching Newburgh that Kingston has been working up a vaunted passing attack.

In a game in which Kingston and Newburgh tangles, the odds on either school are unjustified despite pre-game records. These two machines always stage a great show and one which is never concluded until that final whistle.

It will be the same this year. The Maroon and White players have been doing a lot of extra work for this final game of the campaign. The new stars have been picking up useful points on blocking, passing, running and kicking. The team is just about ready to play its best game of the season.

There's one sure thing, Newburgh, despite some impressive victories this year, will have a hard time in knocking over Kingston. The local players are keyed for the game and may score a well-earned victory.

MacMitchell Ends Collegiate Career With Great Record

N. Y. U. Harrier Equals Mark Made by Jones in 1910-11 and 12; May Get Award

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—Leslie MacMitchell, the New York University harrier, had himself a day yesterday.

In Van Cortlandt Park he closed a collegiate cross country career that never knew defeat by winning the intercollegiate A.A.A. race for the third straight year, equalling the record of Cornell's John Paul Jones in 1910-11-12. At Philadelphia, the moguls of

Gets Arm Ready

ED LUEDTKE

Hoping to end the 1941 football season with a victory Thursday afternoon at municipal stadium over Newburgh, Coach Tom Weems is expected to use Ed Luedtke, ace passer, in that role to turn back Newburgh. Luedtke has been proving his ability in every game and now this will be his biggest test.

The A.A.U. decided that MacMitchell's efforts entitled him to compete in the voting for the Sullivan award, annually bestowed on the nation's outstanding amateur athlete.

In some respects MacMitchell's efforts in the IC-4A were superior to those of Jones as the New York University runner also triumphed in the freshman race four years ago. There was no frosh event in Jones' time.

Yesterday Mac Mitchell toured the five miles in 26 minutes, 40.1 seconds. After building an 80-yard lead in the second mile, he coasted the rest of the way.

Rhode Island State retained the team championship by placing five men in the first 11 to finish. New York University was second.

New York — Allie Stolz, 133, Newark, outpointed Charley Varre, 136, New York (8).

Minnesota Retains Top-Ranking Slot; Fight for Second

Texas Aggies and Duke Follow With Only 52 Points Between; Irish in Third

New York, Nov. 18 (AP)—There is no argument among sports-writers in Minnesota's ranking as the nation's top college football team but the writers can't decide with finality on the runner-up to the Norsemen in the weekly Associated Press poll.

As is customary, Minnesota heads the parade again this week with 1,279 out of a possible 1,290 votes and the scribes selected Texas A and M as second. A year ago today the two elevens held identical positions.

The Texas Aggies, however, are threatened. Only 52 points behind their aggregate of 993 is the all-winning Duke combination, with Notre Dame three ballots to the rear of the Blue Devils.

Of the 129 ballots received, 112 put the Gophers in first place; five scribes chose Texas A and M while 12 selected Duke as the best club. Homer Norton's athletes, however, were almost a universal choice for second and pushed Duke to third.

A week ago the University of Texas was second but Texas Christian nipped the Longhorns and tumbled them to ninth place.

Newcomer to the favored 10 this week is Missouri, the Tigers hopping from sixteenth to eighth place following their 28 to 0 defeat of Oklahoma. Stanford made room for Missouri by losing its second game and slumping to seventeenth after holding a "big ten" berth for a week.

But just to show that the scribes aren't influenced entirely by wins and losses, thrice-beaten Northwestern retains its ranking among the nation's 10 best.

Fordham, Navy, Pennsylvania, Ohio State and Mississippi, each beaten only once, are relegated to the second division.

The top 10, in order, with their points: Minnesota 1,279; Texas A & M 993; Duke 941; Notre Dame 938; Michigan 882; Duquesne 580; Alabama 415; Missouri 238; Texas 228; Northwestern 204.

New Orleans — Harry Weekly, 143½, New Orleans, outpointed Bobby Britton, 146½, Miami (10), Leo Rodak, 135, Chicago, outpointed Guy Srean, 132, Boise, Idaho, (10).

Baptists Continue To Lead Dartball With Clean Slate

Men's Federation Member Has Won Four Games; Two Teams Tied in Second Position

After two weeks of competition, the dartball throwers of the First Baptist team lead the Men's Federation Dartball League with four victories and no defeats. The Congregationalists and Ulster Park are the only other teams with a defeat as yet with two wins apiece.

Following are the standings of the clubs:

	W	L	Pct.
First Baptist .....	4	0	1.000
Congregationalists .....	2	0	1.000
Ulster Park .....	2	0	1.000

This Week's Schedule

Fair Street at Congregationalists.

Ace Guard Ready

BUDDY ELLSWORTH

Buddy Ellsworth, ace guard of the Maroon and White gridders, will lead the team into action Thursday afternoon at the stadium against Newburgh. Ellsworth has covered himself with glory all season and now awaits the year's biggest tilt. Opposing teams have named Ellsworth as one of the best in this year's DUSO League.

Woodstock at St. James. West Hurley at Trinity Methodists.

First Baptist at Lake Katrine. Redeemers vs. Clinton Avenue. Presbyterians vs. Lutherans. Ulster Park vs. Port Ewen. Wurts Street Baptist vs. Glenford.

Madden Aces Will Supply Opposition At Polish Court

Poles Seek First Win of Year Over Local Five; Game Is Scheduled for 9 P. M.

At White Eagle Hall on Delaware avenue tonight the Polish cagers will tackle their first local opponents when the Madden Aces appear in the 9 o'clock feature attraction. A prelim is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock.

It was necessary to book the Aces when officials of the Eagles learned that two members of the Hudson Falcons were ill and would not be able to play. In all probability, the up-river quintet will appear here later in the season.

Manager Tatarzewski, after watching his cagers drop their first game of the season to Wappingers Falls last week, said in an interview yesterday, "I expect my boys to come out of the game with a win Tuesday. Last week's defeat doesn't mean a thing." He continued, "Of course, we would have liked to cop that opener. The Fallsmen were good, they played a superior game and deserved the triumph. Most of their players were from the Hudson Valley League and that certainly means something."

The Eagles are expected to start tonight's game with the same lineup. Tatarzewski, Albright, Buboltz, Nalepa, Gill Kellerman and Dougherty. Leo Gerrow, a newcomer, also is ready to play against the Maddens.

It was also announced this week that the White Eagles will be members of the Catholic League for the 1941-42 season. They will play under the name of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary Society of the White Eagle Hall. After tonight's main feature music will be furnished by the Ambassadors.

How the motor propelled vehicle has supplanted horses is graphically illustrated in the figures of the Census Bureau showing that only about 250 livery stables remain, doing a business of $1,372,000 a year, as compared with present establishments serving automobile owners which number 290,000, with total receipts of $2,500,000,000.

AND... IT TURNED OUT A BEAR!

1—A little feller

Of course IMPERIAL started out small—but we felt certain it was headed for a big future. We knew some whiskey-selling records were bound to be broken as soon as folks got "hep" to the incomparable aroma, the delicate flavor, and super smoothness of IMPERIAL.

2—A bigger feller!

And—zingo—how records fell... in Michigan, Massachusetts, New York... wherever IMPERIAL made its bow. It passed long-established whiskies by the score—even chalked up a new Hiram Walker record!

3—The biggest yet!

The way it took Michigan gives you an idea: inside of one year IMPERIAL sped past all 332 other brands to become the state-wide favorite. Now it's the fastest-growing whiskey in America—and the talk of this whiskey-wise town!

Great—for two big reasons!

- "Flavor-Peaked" Base Whiskies! This superb American blend has that expensive, "imported-whiskey" flavor because its foundation whiskies are specially distilled to give them individual qualities—then blended together to a delicate "flavor peak."
- "Velvety" Spirits! Choice spirits actually made in the same stills as the rare base whiskies are then "velvety" by a method similar to the softening of the spirits used in making fine Scotch.

Parade, Bon Fire Sphas Will Meet Have Been Planned Before Big Battle

Parade Will Leave School at 7 P. M.; Speakers Are Listed for Stadium About 8 P. M.

Football fans of Kingston High School besides their parents and friends from the general public will lend some moral support to the determined gridgers of the Maroon and White Wednesday night when a parade and bon fire will open activities for the game Thursday afternoon.

According to arrangements the big parade will leave the high school on Broadway at approximately 7 o'clock with the Maroon band bedecked in their colors. Besides the band, students will be lined in with the parade.

It is expected that it will take about 45 minutes for the route to the stadium under an escort of motorcycles. Kenneth Appleton will supervise the K. H. S. band and its many maneuvers.

At the uptown park, which will be the scene of action the following day, a huge bon fire will be made after which speakers by Arthur Laidlaw, superintendent of schools; Coach Tommy Weems and Captain Buddy Ellsworth will hold the spotlight.

Of course, the usual Kingston High School cheers and songs will be a big part of the festivities at the stadium.

With a lot hinging on the outcome of the Newburgh-Kingston contest Thanksgiving Day, interest in the game has been rapidly growing. And it is opined by school officials that one of the largest turnouts will be on hand to take part in the pre-game activities.

Cage Drills Listed

Important practices for the Y. M. C. A. Young Men's Basketball Club will be held tonight and Friday at 8 o'clock. Opening game is set for December 5 against Cornwall. The Junior Varsity also will play. Jesse Shults has been elected athletic representative of the "Y" Athletic Council which is made up of all branches in other cities. Dick Thomas of the "Y" requests others who are interested in basketball and who are members to attend the drills.

Baltimore — Slugger White, 139, Baltimore, knocked out Jimmy Leto, 143½, Hartford, Conn. (8). New York — Cocoa Kid, 146½, New York, knocked out Pedro Tomez, 148, Philadelphia (4).

Sphas Will Meet New York Jewels In League Opener

American Cage Circuit Will Start on Saturday: Two New Teams Have Been Entered

This week the 1941-42 season of the American Basketball League will be inaugurated at Philadelphia with the Championship Sphas, winner of last year's title, acting as hosts to the New York Jewels Saturday night, November 22. This is the only league contest scheduled for this week with Wilmington following in its opening game Wednesday, November 26.

Interest in the pro league has created more favorable attention this year than at any other time in the past 10 or 12 years. The American Basketball League, recognized as the principal major league circuit of the country has been materially improved by the addition of Wilmington, Del. and Trenton, N. J., to its roster.

The Sphas will have a roster including such stars as Goldman, Wolfe, Kaselman, Lautman, Goffer, Rosand and Rosenberg. Ozzie Schichtman, former Long Island University National Collegiate Champion in 1940-41, also is with the Sphas.

Kinsbrunner, Sphan, Anderson, Goldstein, Rubenstein, Gottlieb, Benson, Davis, Stephens, Schwartz and Shenkan will be ready for the Jewels.

Seeks Reduction

Among properties advertised to be sold by the county treasurer on December 30 for unpaid taxes is the former Dimick estate at Rifton, now owned by James E. Sneed, Kingston real estate man. Mr. Sneed claims that the assessment of $13,000 on the property is excessive and very much higher in proportion to its present real value than other comparable properties in the town of Esopus and has begun certiorari proceedings against the assessors and town of Esopus. His attorney in the proceedings is Charles W. Walton, while Roscoe V. Elsworth is representing the town.

Banquet Plans Made

The committee representing the Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau and 4-H Club Association met at the Farm Bureau office Monday night to plan for the annual business meeting to be held on Thursday night, December 4, at the assembly room in the county building on John street, at 8 o'clock. The annual dinner will be held during the following week, at a date to be set later. Plans for the dinner have not been completed but there was discussion of a proposition to secure a prominent speaker for the occasion.

Card of Thanks

We desire to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their numerous acts of kindness and offers of assistance, and to all those who sent cards and floral tributes during the recent death of my husband, Samuel Carson. We also wish to thank the Rev. Mr. Luck and friends of the Christian Missionary Alliance Church for their kindnesses and services rendered.

MRS. LUCY CARSON AND SONS.

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 18 (AP)—The charge that the Rev. Dr. Henry Darlington, rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York city was "a lover" of Mrs. Anna Hollingsworth Siter Paton of Irvington, was hurled in Surrogate's Court today by Joseph Nickerson, counsel for one of the objectors to her will in which she left a large sum to the clergyman.

The accusation was made after Raymond A. Carter, counsel for the executors of the will had asked that the motion to examine adverse parties to the action, be argued in chambers. He asked at the same time that certain letters be sealed.

In asking for a closed hearing Mr. Carter stated that his firm "had been served late yesterday with papers disparaging to the memory of the decedent."

Mr. Nickerson replied heatedly that he has "photostatic copies of love letters written by Darlington."

It is known that Darlington was a lover of this woman, the attorney shouted, "but they want to limit the examination to a couple of years. They know that Darlington met her in 1926 when he preached her husband's funeral services."

Objections Are Filed

Relatives filed objections to Mrs. Paton's will, bequeathing much of her property estimated at approximately $1,000,000 and her Irvington home to Dr. Darlington in whose church she was a communicant for many years.

Outside counsel Charles H. Fay, attorney for Dr. Darlington, told reporters the charges were "all bosh" and that he was confident he would be able to disprove them if the contest comes to trial.

"Dr. Darlington," the attorney said, "is 51; Mrs. Paton was 77. Dr. Darlington is happily married; his mother lived until her death in Mrs. Paton's apartment."

Mrs. Edith Collins Siter of Philadelphia, widow and executrix of a brother of Mrs. Paton, and two of Mrs. Siter's daughters filed objections to the will, claiming that Mrs. Paton was not of sound mind when her will was signed in April, 1940, and that the signature was obtained by fraud and undue influence.

Under the will, filed for probate shortly after the woman's death last January 7, Mrs. Paton left the Irvington mansion, "Nirvana," and the income from three-tenths of the residuary estate to Dr. Darlington with contingent interest to two of the rector's children.

Income from four-tenths of the residuary would go to Rudolph S. Rauch of Villanova, Pa., a nephew of her late husband, Morton S. Paton, who died in 1926, two-tenths to Dr. Richard Townley Paton, another relative of her late husband, and one-tenth to the Church of the Heavenly Rest, plus a remainder interest in three-tenths.

Surrogate Charles D. Millard granted the application for the closed hearing over Mr. Nickerson's objections that "if these charges are true, the public is entitled to know about it." The motion to dismiss objections also pending before the Surrogate was put over to Friday, November 28, for argument.

William F. Smith Puts End to Life At Poughkeepsie

William F. Smith, after one unsuccessful attempt to end his life, succeeded on his second attempt last Friday evening in his hotel room in Poughkeepsie. The body was claimed by his brother, Erik Smith, of Oakdale, Conn., and removed to Oakdale Sunday where funeral services were held today.

A week prior to last Friday Smith had attempted to end his own life by taking an overdose of a powerful sleeping drug. On his second attempt, which proved successful, he took an even larger dose. Dr. Howard P. Carpenter, after an autopsy, listed Smith's death as suicide.

Smith before going to Poughkeepsie had been in Kingston where he had gotten out a telephone directory. He was doing similar work in Poughkeepsie.

Grease on Plate Causes Slight Fire in 'Dog' Stand

Grease on one of the plates of the electric stove in the White Pig, a hot dog stand on Broadway, adjoining the Broadway railroad crossing, ignited Monday afternoon, and the fire department was called by telephone. The damage was slight.

This morning at 7:40 o'clock the fire department was called out for a chimney fire at the house occupied by Catherine Healy at 18 Davis street.

Shortly after 8 o'clock this morning Frank Bartroff of 18 East St. James street reported that a shotgun cartridge had dropped into the register of the hot air heater. The fire department responded and one of the firemen removed the cartridge from the register. The cartridge had not been exploded.

The United States birth rate has turned upward, Census records indicate. Provisional tabulations show 2,353,988 births reported in 1940—an increase of 91,260 over final 1939 figures. The birth rate per 1,000 population jumped from 17.3 to 17.9.

Ruth Kuehn, 74 West O'Reilly street, 86.40 per cent.
Lucy Dunn, 70 Garden street, 86.26 per cent.

Twenty-one took the examination, and of that number 15 passed.

Capt. Erickson Dies

San Francisco, Nov. 18 (AP)—Captain Edward T. Erickson, 69, who commanded the first company of American soldiers to enter Germany with the Army of Occupation in the World War, died Monday. Wounded three times during 1918-1919, Captain Erickson was a semi-invalid until his death. He lived in Oakland, Calif. His company—Company F, 16th Infantry, First Division—lost the first American blood shed in the World War, at the Battle of Marston, Nov. 3, 1917.

C.I.O. Cheers Move To Support U.S. War Aid Program

Convention Hears Proposed Resolution and Gives Loud Ovation and Lauds President

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt called upon the C.I.O. today to cooperate in the production of arms "without delay and without interruption."

In a message to the C.I.O.'s annual convention, the Chief Executive said:

"We need guns, tanks, planes and ships and we must produce them, tanks, planes and ships without delay and without interruption, and the American people and their government are determined that we shall have them."

"I have every confidence that your members, recognizing the imperative needs of the American people in the interest of American defense will cooperate with all other American groups in the common and the patriotic interest. Americans will demand such a contribution from labor and from all other groups for the preservation of home, family, religion and nation."

Mr. Roosevelt also called for the reestablishment of peace in the ranks of organized labor as a patriotic step of great importance in creating national unity.

The President's message was read to the delegates by C.I.O. President Philip Murray and evoked applause. Murray promised that an "appropriate reply" would be forthcoming later.

The President's words were relayed to the convention at a time when the C.I.O.'s largest unit, the United Mine Workers, was engaged in a strike in the defense vital captive coal mines.

Detroit, Nov. 18 (AP)—The C. I. O.'s national convention greeted a proposed resolution for all out support of President Roosevelt's policy of aid for Britain, Soviet Russia and China with a thunderous ovation today.

The C. I. O. declares it to be of paramount importance to the security of this nation that we immediately furnish all possible aid to and completely cooperate with Great Britain, the Soviet Union and China, which are the nations now carrying on the struggle to rid the world of Nazism, the resolutions committee's proposal read.

The C. I. O. commends President Roosevelt for his forthright foreign policy and in the joint action of the President and Congress in the recent amendments to the neutrality law which will permit this nation to immediately arm and protect American ships and American seamen carrying vitally needed supplies to the heroic people of Great Britain, the Soviet Union and China and thereby assure the quicker defeat of Nazi Germany. The proposal termed national unity essential and declared that

"efforts of any such as Lindbergh to disunite the American people on such un-American issues as anti-semitism must be ferreted out and exposed as Hitler's fifth column."

"The American people," the resolution asserted, "demand that all aides of Hitler in this country be they our home grown quislings or the representatives of his puppet states, such as Vichy, France, must not be permitted to cause dissension or sow their seeds of disunity in this nation."

"American workers cannot and will not tolerate any appeasement of any elements or forces which seek to undermine or compromise American democracy."

C. I. O. President Philip Murray called for "whole-hearted support" of the administration's overseas attitude.

Murray's predecessor at the C. I. O.'s helm, bushy-browed John L. Lewis, has criticized President Roosevelt's policies both at home and abroad, but the union shop dispute of his United Mine Workers with captive mine operators kept him occupied in Washington.

Radio Loose Bombs of Latest Aerial Torpedo

VALLEJO, CALIF. — Army officials expressed keen interest in a strange-looking radio-controlled aerial torpedo developed by an engineer at the Mare Island Navy yard.

They watched his experiments with a six-foot working model in a field near Vallejo and recommended that he continue tests and make a complete report. Such a torpedo could open up a new branch of aerial warfare.

The winged torpedo, which operates on a gyroscope principle, is designed to fly at an altitude of 30,000 feet. Carrying a load of bombs, it would be set at the sending point to a power dive at terrific speed into a designated enemy target, spraying bombs over a wide area.

John Hodgdon, former professor of engineering with the United States insular service, developed the torpedo at his home after experiments which he said began 30 years ago. He said he was one of the inventors of wing flaps which aid in decreasing an airplane's landing speed.

His working model, with a six-foot body, has a wingspread of eight feet and an unusually large tail assembly, about six feet across. The ship is powered with three gasoline motors.

While the torpedo might not prove critically accurate on long-distance flights, it would be highly effective in bombing large objectives, Mr. Hodgdon said.
